Students Now Appreciate Teachers' Duties More

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

A greater appreciation for teachers' duties and responsibilities was the most frequent reaction at the end of the College View Academy's annual day in which students operate the school.

Long hours of subject matter preparation, difficulty in planning programs that will be interesting to all students and problems of controlling classes were among the insights into teacher life reported by student faculty members.

"The student teachers seemed to be quite impressed with the work it requires to be an effective instructor," declared Ernie Unruh, student body president, who was principal for the day-long activity.

Longtime Project
The teach-in, sponsored by the student association, has been conducted at least a dozen years, it was reported.

Faculty at the academy have "indicated the students did an excellent job in their responsibilities," according to Principal Dr. Gerry Thompson. A formal evaluation will be held with the faculty next week.

A student faculty representative was chosen from juniors and seniors by each teacher to observe all of that teacher's classes during the day, actually conducting one class. Other student teachers were selected to conduct a class they regularly attend.

More Time Needed
Dan Donovan, a senior, spent four hours preparing a laboratory physics class in figuring the speed of sound. That is a "lot more time than I usually spend studying one lesson," he pointed out.

"A lot more goes into the teaching process than the learning process," Donovan declared.

Like most of the other student teachers, he found that students in his class were more outgoing than normal, eager to participate in the lessons and to assist the instructor.

One of the academy faculty members reported that he had learned from one class presentation how effective a different method of teaching could be.

Can't Please All
A written evaluation of the day from one of the female student teachers indicated that she had found "making something interesting to everyone is impossible."

"It makes me a lot more tolerable of my teachers, but it also gave me a chance to try out some of my own theories on better ways of teaching," she wrote.

Other student teachers enjoyed the leadership experience involved in teaching a class.

Principal Shadowed
Unruh shadowed Thompson for the day, observing the principal's duties and helping handle some of the student problems, such as illness and discipline.

Seeing that Thompson has to "be in so many different places during the day and do so many different kinds of things" helped Unruh realize "why he's not always available when I want to see him on some student body business."

There were few discipline problems during the day, but the student faculty had decided ahead of time that it was going to end the annual spring squirt gun problem. The young teachers confiscated 13 squirt guns before the day was over, Unruh reported.

30-Senator Override Of Governor Proposed

By The Associated Press

A group currently studying the state constitution says 30 votes in the 49-member Legislature should be enough to override the governor's veto of a budget bill.

The constitution presently requires 33 votes — two-thirds of the Legislature — for an override.

The recommended change was reported Friday by a subcommittee of the Nebraska Constitutional Revision Commission.

Recommendations
The subcommittee, after studying that part of the constitution dealing with the executive branch of government, also recommended:

—That the governor present his budget to the Legislature in the form of a bill rather than a message, and that the governor be provided what expert help he needs to prepare the budget.

—That the governor should have greater power to remove from office those persons he appoints.

—That the title of the State Railway Commission be changed

ed to "Public Utility Commission."

—That the tax commissioner's title be changed to "director of revenue."

Vacancy Eyed
The subcommittee was in general agreement that the lieutenant governor should be elected on the same ballot with the governor, and agreed there should be some provision to fill a vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor.

The subcommittee was unable to agree on which, if any, of other state executive officers should be elected, and which should be appointed.

The subcommittee's report will be considered by the full commission when it meets next

April 10 and 11.

POSTAL PACT PUNCTURED

More Mailmen Vote To Strike

. . . Government Agrees To Talks

Washington (P) — Postal strikes continued to mount Friday night despite a government agreement to discuss the money demands of its mailmen if they would end immediately their illegal, localized strike.

In Chicago and Cleveland workers voted to strike and in New York a strike vote was expected Saturday.

About 1,800 Pittsburgh carriers voted overwhelmingly Friday night to walk out of the city's 39 stations between 5 a.m. and 7 a.m. Saturday.

In Minneapolis, by a vote of 1,050 to 89, members of Minneapolis Branch 9 of the Letter Carriers also voted to strike at 12:01 a.m. CST Saturday.

"The national leaders say we should sit down and talk, but they should have been doing that a long time ago," said John O'Shea, president of Branch 84 of the National Association of Letter Carriers.

A spokesman for Labor Secretary George P. Shultz said late Friday the secretary undoubtedly "was aware of the possibility" that all union members might not abide by the agreement reached with the government during the afternoon. The situation will be reappraised Monday morning, the spokesman said, by which time those who say they will not work "may have reversed themselves."

"Strike! Strike!"

Union leaders related to some 5,000 Chicago mailmen the results of the meeting Friday in Washington with government officials. But the response was a thunderous voice vote of "Strike! Strike! Strike!" by members of Chicago Branch 11 of the National Association of Letter Carriers.

It was a major escalation of the strike.

When Harold A. Loewe, president of Branch 40 of the National Association of Letter Carriers, tried to recommend to the Cleveland workers acceptance of the government's offer, he was booed. Union leaders said the Cleveland carriers told them they will not go back to work until pay boosts have been approved by Congress.

Damage Small

In Fire At Denton

Denton — An early Saturday morning fire at Parker's Steak House here caused "minor" damage to the second story and roof, according to A. L. Blacketer, Southwest Fire District chief.

The fire, which apparently started in a sleeping room above the restaurant, was quickly extinguished by responding firemen.

Henry Zych, president of the Chicago branch of the National Association of Letter Carriers, said the strike there would not only curtail local postal service but would cripple service across the country immediately.

After the government's agreement to discuss the postal workers' money demands, provided the local strikes were ended, postal union leaders said they would ask their workers to return to their jobs at once in New York City and other areas affected by the spreading postal paralysis.

Ominous Proviso

But the largest of the unions, the Letter Carriers who began the wildcat strikes Wednesday, added an ominous proviso that deepened the urgency of the impending negotiations between government and postal workers.

The union leaders said if no agreement is reached in five days of talks, union president James H. Rademacher will call a nationwide strike, even though strikes by federal employees are forbidden by law.

Agreement was reached after a 2½-hour meeting between Labor Secretary George P. Shultz and the presidents of seven postal unions. "I'm very confident I can sell this pact," Rademacher said, "and if I can we're back in business."

"No Sellout!"

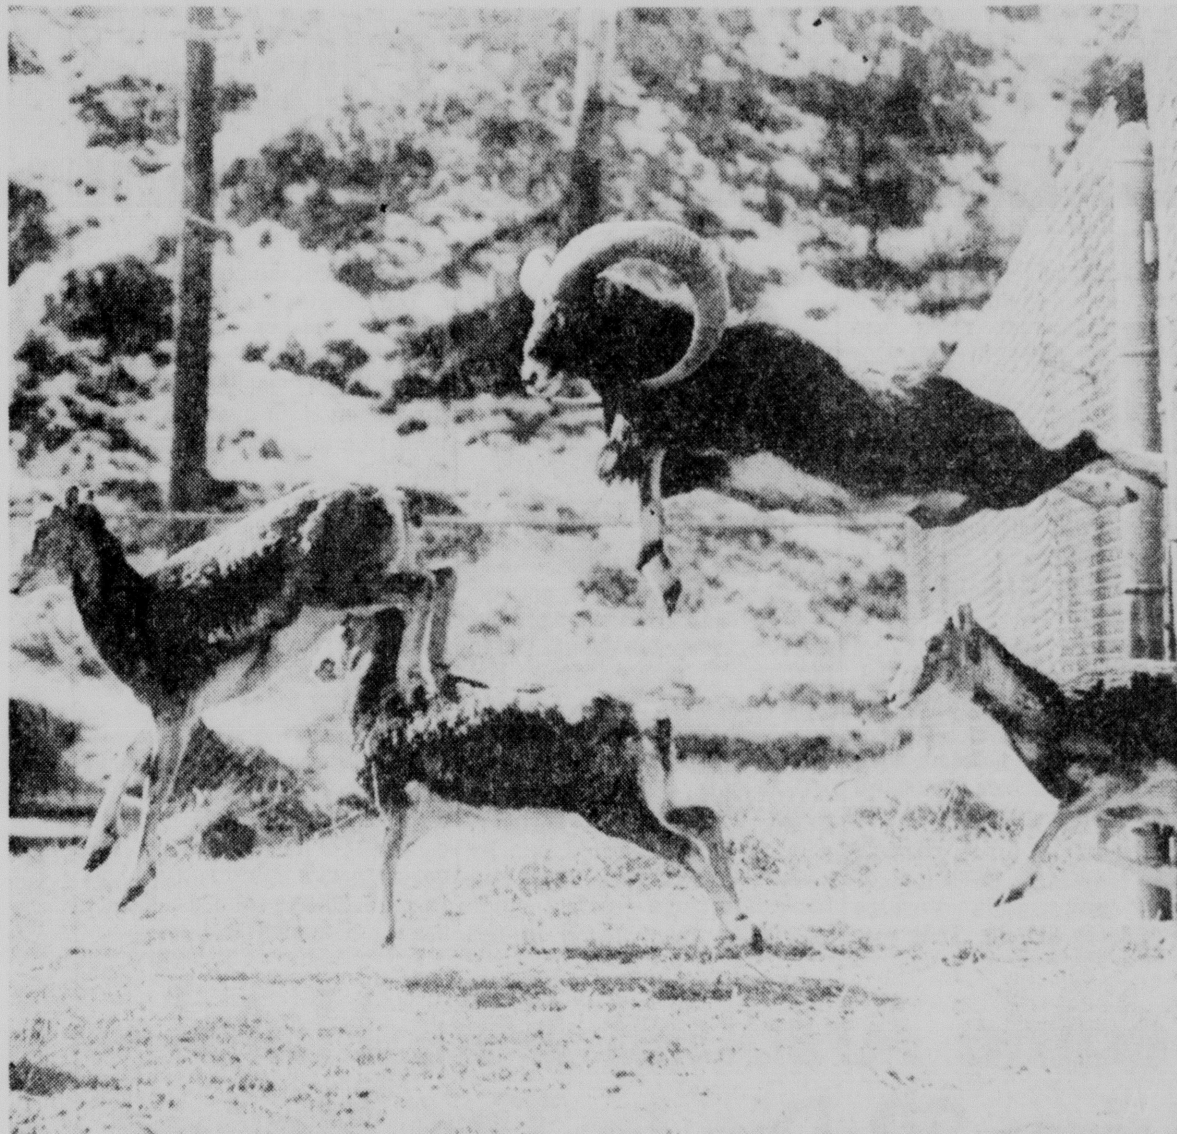

Rademacher then carried the plan back to a meeting of 300 branch chairmen of his National Association of Letter Carriers. In a session punctuated by cries of "No sellout!" he put the idea across and the leaders agreed to call on their men to return to work immediately.

In New York, another ominous note was sounded by Moe Biller, president of the Manhattan-Bronx Postal Union, who predicted his members would decide "overwhelmingly to strike" at a vote scheduled for Saturday.

Rademacher's union was one of seven involved in the meeting with Shultz. The others: National Association of Post Office and General Services Maintenance Employees, National Rural Letter Carriers' Association, United Federation of Postal Clerks, National Association of Post Office Mail Handlers, National Association of Special Delivery Messengers and National Federation of Post Office Motor Vehicle Employees.

All are affiliated with the AFL-CIO except the Rural Letter Carriers Union, which is independent.

The postal workers are protesting their current wage scale, which ranges from $6,176 a year to start and climbs to $8,442 after 21 years. They want to make the pay range $8,500 to start and $11,700 after five years.

MOUFLONS ARE ALL READY FOR SPRING

Four mouflons do their thing for spring — they take a spring in Toronto's High Park. The mouflons, a variety of wild sheep found only in the hills of the Mediterranean islands of Sardinia and Corsica, weren't the only ones eager for spring. Ah yes, 'tis spring again. It came bounding in at 6:57 p.m. Friday when the sun crossed the equator. Scientifically speaking, that was the time of the vernal equinox. The college kids and their bikinis, beer, guitars and suntan lotion began arriving in carefree droves on the Florida beaches. So, goodbye Old Man Winter (we hope).

FDA To Investigate Saccharin As Possible Cancer Producer

Washington (P) — The Food and Drug Administration contracted Friday for an expedited investigation of possible health hazards from saccharin — the widely used artificial sweetener linked recently by one experiment to cancer in mice.

NAL Academy of Sciences-National Research Council will evaluate existing experimental evidence on saccharin and present recommendations to the FDA within approximately two months, a spokesman for the agency said.

The FDA placed highest priority on the saccharin study after a University of Wisconsin researcher, Dr. George T. Bryan, produced cancer in the urinary bladders of mice with implants of pellets containing saccharin and a suspension agent.

The saccharin evaluation, along with reviews of other commonly used food additives, was not scheduled to begin for some months under an original timetable.

Investigation Told

The government announced the additive investigations last October after another artificial sweetener, cyclamate, was linked to bladder cancer and restricted it for general use.

Saccharin, a chemical with 300 times the sweetening power of sugar, is a common additive in diet foods and drinks.

The FDA is approaching the question of saccharin's safety cautiously. "It needs to be looked into," said a spokesman. "There is cause for concern but no cause for panic."

FDA officials stress that

Bryan's implantation experiment does not necessarily mean saccharin is harmful for man. They say results from feeding tests with animals are necessary before saccharin can be labeled cancer-producing.

Feeding Test

The National Cancer Institute has under way a large-scale feeding test with the sweetener on rats and mice. Although final results are not due for a year or more, Academy scientists will review the early findings for their evaluation.

Bryan's earlier implantation experiments produced the first evidence cyclamate caused bladder cancer in animals. The government acted against the sweetener after his findings were confirmed by subsequent feeding studies.

Ten Who Knew Jesus

By JOHN J. STEWART

Like so many other men, Nicodemus was a man who would like to have done right, but never quite had the courage of his convictions.

Nicodemus had greatly admired Jesus of Nazareth. He believed what He taught, or much of it anyway. "We know that Thou art a teacher come from God," he had said to Him. "For no man can do these miracles that Thou doest, except God be with him." But Nicodemus could never bring himself to forgo the comfortable circumstances that he enjoyed as a Pharisee.

The requirement that Jesus made of His disciples was too great for Nicodemus: "If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me."

Nicodemus had not favored putting Jesus to death, as did most of his colleagues. But neither did he have the moral courage to cry out in His defense, as he would like to have done.

Pricked by his own cowardice, by his sense of wrong done to an innocent and good man, Nicodemus had watched in horror as Jesus was crucified.

Another man of wealth, Joseph of Arimathea, found himself in much the same situation as Nicodemus. He too had believed in Jesus of Nazareth, but found it too difficult to become a real disciple, thus endangering his wealth and position.

Now upon the death of Jesus, Joseph of Arimathea got Pontius Pilate's permission to "take away the body of Jesus." He and Nicodemus together took the body of Jesus down from the cross, wrapped it in fine linen, with spices which Nicodemus had brought, "a mixture of myrrh and aloes, about an hundred pound weight," and buried Jesus in a tomb near Calvary, "wherein was never man yet laid."

The emptiness that Nicodemus felt as he walked away from the tomb was the spiritual emptiness of a man who had failed to live by the light which had been offered to him.

Yet, there was a ray of hope in his heart too, as he recalled the interview with the Master that night he had gone secretly, under cloak of darkness, to visit Him and learn more of Him. It was to Nicodemus that Jesus had spoken these gracious words of encouragement:

"For God so loved the world, that He gave

NICODEMUS, who feared to follow Him

His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

"For God sent not His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved . . ."

Another Nickel Clipped From Value Of $10 Bill

Washington (P) — Higher food prices, a big jump in home mortgage interest rates and other price hikes in February continued the nation's worst rise in living costs in 20 years.

Last month's increase of 0.5% in typical family living costs clipped another nickel from the value of a $10 bill and boosted the government's consumer price index to 132.5, the Labor Department said.

The index figure means it cost $13.25 last month for food, clothing, housing, transportation, medical care and recreation that cost $10 a decade ago, reducing the value of the 1957-59 dollar to 75.5 cents.

At the same time, average weekly earnings of some 45 million rank-and-file workers rose $1.06 to $117.18. That was $7.07 more than a year ago. But inflation has erased $7.38 in purchasing power since last February, more than wiping out the wage gain, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Pork chops were up 2 cents a pound to $1.20 in February, potatoes rose 3.8 cents per 10-pound bag to nearly 85 cents and home mortgage interest rates leaped 2.6 index points in the single month, the bureau said.

The February price rise was slightly below January's but living costs still were 6.3% above a year earlier and were increasing at an even faster annual rate of 6.9% the past four months.

"November, December and January did show an acceleration," said Joel Popkin, assistant commissioner of the bureau, but he noted that the February rise eased the annual rate of rise from 7.2 to 6.9% for the past four months.

Popkin said the large jump in home mortgage rates accounted for about one-fifth of the entire February rise. But declined comment on whether the government's tight-money, high-interest policies against inflation are self-defeating.

Seattle Arsonist Sets Hotel Afire; 20 Die In The Flames

Seattle (P) — At least 20 persons were killed in an arson-caused hotel fire Friday that drove residents screaming from their rooms. Many residents crashed through glass in leaping from flame-filled windows.

Firemen feared the death toll would climb even higher after the body of the 20th victim was found in smoking rubble nine hours after the early morning blaze erupted in the downtown Ozark Hotel.

The King County coroner's office said it has been able to identify only eight of the victims.

They were Gilbert D. Giddens, 45; Cherry R. Brown, 39 or 40; Reginald Cummings, 57; Maureen Emmons, 37; Walter E. Berard, 63; Joseph A. Mandt, about 40; Martin L. DeWitt Jr., and Archie Eagan. No hometowns were available. Ages for the last two victims also were unavailable.

One victim, Maureen Em-mons, 37, was killed when she dropped five stories to a sidewalk. She had slipped from the grasp of Joseph Smith, 37, South Amboy, N.J. "I climbed onto the fire escape and had a hold of her arm," Smith said. "I felt that big tug on my hand ... and she slipped and went all the way down. There was no way I could hold her ... no way ..."

He climbed down a fire escape.

It was the city's worst fire disaster since 1943 when a military plane crashed into a packing plant, killing 32 persons. Fire officials said "some type of flammable liquid" was splashed in both hotel stairways, causing flames to spread so rapidly that residents were trapped on the fourth and fifth floor. Fire Chief Gordon Vickery said, "This means it was arson."

Mayor Wes Uhlman said federal officials had been tipped to the possibility of such a fire in Seattle. Fire officials stepped up their routine checks of hotels in the city. A fire team inspected the Ozark Thursday and found nothing unusual.

Vickery said that within six minutes after firemen arrived, flames had roared up the stairways and burst through the roof.

Firemen rushed to lift ladders to residents who clung to window sills as flames spread through their rooms.

Tax Breaks Requested For Small Businesses

Washington (UPI) — President Nixon, recalling the struggles of his father, Francis, as a small grocer in California, asked Congress Friday to pump new life into small businesses through tax breaks and easier credit.

Risks of failure are high in small enterprises, the President said in a special message, and improvements are needed to bring about "a quiet kind of success that doesn't make the big news on the financial page, but makes it more rewarding for millions of Americans."

"The man who is willing to take the financial risks involved in beginning a small business should be encouraged," he said.

Nixon's proposed package included a provision which would allow lenders to deduct from their taxes 20% of interest earned on loans to small business. The measure also would extend and simplify the machinery with which the Small Business Administration (SBA) guarantees loans for smaller-scale businessmen.

To help business requiring heavy outlay to get started, the President proposed extending from 5 years to 10 years the period over which losses can be carried forward for tax purposes.

Another provision would revise tax laws to make it easier for small businesses to attain partnership treatment resulting in lower taxation.

Still another would provide tax incentives to encourage lenders to help operations set up by members of minority groups. Commerce Secretary Maurice

H. Stans told reporters the new provisions would cost an estimated $50 million to $60 million the first year, mostly for subsidizing low-interest loans to small business.

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic (P) — Bomb blasts rocked this island capital after a policeman shot and killed a man at a political meeting, police said.

U.S. Flies 2 Thai Battalions To Laos To Help Hold Base

Vientiane, Laos (P) — Two Thai battalions have been flown to Long Cheng in U.S. planes to help defend that army base from an expected North Vietnamese onslaught, well informed sources said Friday.

Long Cheng, 90 miles north of Vientiane, appeared in peril after the North Vietnamese seized three hilltop positions and advanced to within a mile of the base, the informants reported.

This report came just about the time a pro-Communist Pathet Lao emissary arrived in Vientiane from Hanoi bringing a peace plan for Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma. The Pathet Lao, Col. Pradith Thientham, is expected to see the premier Saturday.

Via Air America

The informants, in a position to know, said the Thai battalions were flown from Thailand bases in planes of Air America, which is chartered by the U.S. Aid agency in Laos. A Thai battalion normally has a peak strength of 500 men.

In Washington, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler confirmed some Thai involvement, but said the report was "grossly exaggerated."

Ziegler first said he would not comment on the report, but added: "I will say that the report is grossly exaggerated. I am not going to comment on the very limited Thai involvement in Laos."

He said he would leave that to the governments of Laos and Thailand.

He declined specifically to say whether planes of Air America were involved.

This was the first report of any sizable Thai force entering the conflict in Laos. There have been numerous reports, however, of small groups of Thai advisers working with the Laotian forces.

The sources said anti-Communist demonstrations in neighboring Cambodia, topped by the coup Wednesday that deposed Prince Norodom Sihanouk as chief of state, encouraged the royal Laotian government to stiffen its stand against the Pathet Lao and their North Vietnamese allies.

The sources did not know precisely how the Thais fitted into this situation, although they noted that Thailand has recognized a potential threat to its borders in the North Vietnamese drive through Laos.

Allies, Cambodia Coordinate Action

The New York Times

An Phu, South Vietnam — An American spotter plane and South Vietnamese artillery were called in by a Cambodian army commander Friday during a two-hour battle against Viet Cong troops inside Cambodia.

While Cambodian and South Vietnamese officers exchanged instructions on American-supplied radios, the American plane provided aerial reconnaissance and a battery of South Vietnamese howitzers pounded enemy positions just across the border.

The clash erupted about midday during a battalion-size Cambodian sweep of a Viet Cong sanctuary about 10 miles north of here.

The battle appeared to be the most determined Cambodian effort yet to drive the Viet Cong out of their border areas. It was also described by reliable sources as the first coordinated action between allied and Cambodian forces against the Viet Cong since the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk Wednesday.

The allied participation in the fight reflected a decision to make the most of the current differences between the Cambodians and the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong units that have used their territory as a safe haven and supply route for years.

Last week following a series of demonstrations against the presence of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces in Cambodia, the government in Phnom Penh asked that the forces be withdrawn.

The South Vietnamese district chiefs along the border in Chau Doc province have been ordered in recent days to provide all possible assistance short of troops to the Cambodian units operating across the border.

U.S. military advisers stationed in the border districts have been directed to attempt to establish communications with the Cambodian commanders on the other side.

Russian Gunman Is Ruled Insane By Soviet Court

Moscow (UPI) — The gunman who fired at a motorcade of Soviet leaders and cosmonauts last year has been ruled insane and will escape trial, the government newspaper Izvestia reported Friday.

The Soviet Supreme Court found the 23-year-old man, identified only as Ilyin, was "not answerable for his actions." He will be confined under compulsory treatment in a special psychiatric hospital, the newspaper said.

Counter-Coup Feared

Phnom Penh, Cambodia (P) — The government announced Friday it would use force if Prince Norodom Sihanouk tried to return to power. At the same time it placed a number of his supporters under house arrest.

The two strongmen of the government were trying to consolidate their hold on Phnom Penh before the opposition can organize against the coup Wednesday that overthrew the chief of state.

Gen. Lon Nol, the premier and armed forces commander, and Deputy Premier Sinowath Sirik Matak, were said to be expecting the opposition to try a takeover.

This could come, some diplomats believe, from pro-Sihanouk elements and Communist Party members, who might try to oust them by creating chaos in this kingdom.

Government forces could be tied down by Khmer Rouge, the Cambodian Communist Party, and by Communist-trained Khmer hill tribesmen. These forces gave Sihanouk trouble when he was in power.

At this point, the diplomats believe, the North Vietnamese strategy will be internal subversion while their regulars solidify positions in eastern Laos and Cambodia along the border of South Vietnam.

Cambodia has an army of 45,000 men plus 10,000 additional in the air force, navy and police. There are at least 40,000 North Vietnamese and 6,000 or so Viet Cong seasoned fighters along the two Cambodian provinces bordering South Vietnam. They have their own villages, roads and farms.

Sihanouk Says Ouster Illegal

The New York Times

By Agence France-Presse
Peking, China — Prince Norodom Sihanouk said here Friday that his overthrow as chief of state of Cambodia was "absolutely illegal."

He called for a referendum in Cambodia under the auspices of the International Control Commission composed of Canada, India and Poland set up in 1954 to supervise the cease-fire agreements that ended the French war in Indochina.

"I cannot be dismissed from the office of supreme magistrate except by the nation as a whole," he said, "that is to say, by a national referendum whose validity cannot be contested."

Survivor Says Three Died 'Trying To Help Each Other'

Norfolk (P) — The lone survivor of a freak accident in which three young companions were electrocuted said Friday the three died because they tried to help each other.

"The thing that will always stay with me," said Christie Graber, 19, of Norfolk, "is that we were all such close friends and they got it when we were all trying to help each other."

Her friends, Carolyn Osborn, 21, Myles Patton, 20, and Donald Strate, 18, died when a 7,200-volt power line fell across the car in which they were sitting Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Graber, a Northeastern Nebraska College student as were the others, escaped through a window, narrowly escaping death.

The accident was described in vivid detail by Miss Graber in an interview with the Norfolk Daily News. She had been under sedation until Friday.

Car Or Patton Hit

She said the power line either hit the front of the car or Patton, who was standing next to the car with the right door on the two-door hardtop open. Miss Osborn was behind the wheel.

Without making a sound, Patton slumped back onto the front seat of the car. Miss Osborn screamed, reached over to help Patton and was electrocuted as she touched Patton's head.

Sparks began to fly from Miss Osborn's hand and Patton's head. "Little fires" broke out up and down their bodies and across their faces and then they "fizzled out."

"They're going to die," said Miss Graber, who was sitting in the back seat with Strate. "Don't touch them," said Strate. "They're already dead. We got to get out of here. . . I got to get you out of here."

Knocked Off Balance

Strate then pushed forward the front seat and prepared to jump out of the car. He opened the door on the driver's side, but

Italian Movies Slow Production

The president of the Italian association of producers, Eitel Monaco, disclosed only 35 films were started in the past three months, compared with 60 in the first quarter last year.

Rural Alda Fire Destroys House

Alda (P) — Fire completely destroyed a one-story frame farm house and an unattached garage about four-and-a-half miles south of this Hall County town Friday, fire officials said.

No one was in the house, owned by Loyal Denman, a spokesman for the Grand Island Rural Fire Department said. Units from rural Grand Island and Wood River responded to the fire alarm.

Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined.

warning not to touch the two victims in the front seat.

"I wanted to help them," Miss Graber said Friday, "but I was even afraid to touch their clothing. I was sure I was going to die, but I am afraid of fire and I didn't want to burn."

Smoke Filled Car

She tried unsuccessfully to push the front seat forward as flames shot from the front of the car, where the power line was draped across the hood, "and the car was full of funny colored smoke that smelled awful." Sparks continued to jump from the three bodies.

Miss Graber exited through a back window, using a shoulder safety strap to pull herself out face up.

That was the last thing she remembers. The teen-ager said she may have been knocked unconscious and fell from the car.

Miss Graber said Patton had been firing a .22-caliber rifle at insulators on a power pole ahead of the car on the left side of the county road nine miles southwest of Norfolk.

Authorities believe a bullet severed the line and it whipped across the front of the car.

Farmers Say 'Ready To Haul Grain Again'

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Most of the Nebraska NFO members who made the grain haul trip to Kansas City said Friday "we are ready to go again."

The truck caravan, planned to stretch out about seven miles, became much longer at points because of traffic conditions, explained NFO members.

The vanguard of trucks hit Kansas City, Kansas right at five o'clock and at 4 a.m. the next morning the unloading process was halted with about two dozen trucks still to be dumped the next morning.

NFO members were unhappy with a report that "they expected to get $1.27 for their corn, but only got $1.20 per bushel."

This they said came from a misunderstanding with the press because the corn was sold at a set price about 6½ cents below rail delivery, which has a price preference at the terminal market.

NFO members said they received a lot of attention from the public and the huge assembly of grain trucks provided the basis for many questions that the Nebraska farmers derived a great deal of satisfaction from answering.

"Because of being unable to transport corn out of our area, our market is considerably lower. We found out that at some points in Missouri corn is selling for $1.45 per bushel because of a shortage of grain," explained an NFO spokesman.

Man Decides Not To Press Charges Against Car Thief

Monroeville, Pa. (P) — Harry Beatty Jr. of Newell in Fayette County worked all winter to save enough money to buy a car.

He finally made it, but the car was stolen Wednesday from the parking lot of the restaurant where he works.

Beatty never expected to see the car again. But the next day his dad was driving his truck on a run from Beaver Falls to Johnstown and spotted the car near this Pittsburgh suburb.

He called police, who picked up a 20-year-old ex-convict who had the car. Beatty didn't press charges, though, saying someone failed to steer the young man in the right direction when he was younger.

unemployment level already stands at 5%, the highest it has been in 6 years.

Willis said the new layoff ordered Thursday by the Army will be initiated starting in May. He added that the new layoff is more serious than the 500-man layoff last November because the majority of the workers involved in the upcoming layoff involves those who must work to make a living.

He said many people in the November layoff were housewives.

Looking at a more optimistic side, Willis said even with the current layoff, the Grand Island employment level remains 5,000 to 6,000 higher than it was 6 years ago.

City Officials Talk About Radial Plans

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

City officials met Friday evening with a standing-room-only crowd of approximately 100 persons to discuss the city's plans for an accelerated land program for the Northeast Radial.

The city will soon begin actively soliciting land in a diagonal line running from 19th and Holdrege to 39th and Adams.

Those attending the first of four neighborhood meetings at the Salvation Army Auditorium fired away a barrage of questions at city officials about the project.

Money Main Question

Many wanted answers about whether they would receive enough in order to buy another home elsewhere and on how the city would go about paying for their house.

Asst. City Atty. Richard Wood assured the area residents that they would receive a fair market price for their homes. Wood added that the city would also pay expenses a person would normally have to pay in selling a home, such as prepayment penalties on an existing mortgage and costs involved in the extending of an abstract.

Wood also said that 99% of the city's appraisals are in excess of the county appraisals for tax purposes and that the city would pay whichever of the two figures is higher.

City 'Concerned'

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf remarked that "these meetings are being held because we are concerned about you. We want you to know what is happening."

Schwartzkopf said he wanted to emphasize that "we are not coming here (into the Clinton area) to bulldoze you out."

Two possibilities for relocating people were mentioned at the meeting and city officials asked the people to respond to the ideas.

Moving One Possibility

One possibility was to move houses to lots which the city would purchase outside the path of the Northeast Radial.

The other possibility, Wood said, "is to swap homes." He said that maybe the city could purchase a home outside the path of the freeway and swap it for a home in the path of the Northeast Radial. Neither of the two ideas has definitely been decided on.

Also attending the meeting for the city were Public Works Director Robert Obering, Denis Fetting, the city's property manager and appraiser of property in the Northeast Radial path, Human Rights Officer Gerald Henderson, and Asst. City Atty. Charles Humble.

Neighborhood meetings are also planned for Saturday at 2 p.m. and next Friday at 8 p.m. and Saturday at 2 p.m., all at the Salvation Army Auditorium.

Curtis Urges Use Of Guard To End Strike

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., said Friday that the government should move decisively to end the postal strike immediately.

Speaking on the Senate floor, he said "I urge that whatever power and means necessary, be used to bring the postal strike to an end and to see to it that it does not spread."

The Republican said he thinks the government should use the National Guard or whatever troops are available to move the mail. He said the Post Office Department is a government service and no one has the right to strike to curtail this service.

Postal Clerks May Consider Strike Support

Omaha (P) — The 850-member Local 11 of the United Federation of Postal Clerks will hold a special membership meeting in Omaha Saturday, State Federation President Kenneth Wilson reported.

Wilson said the membership might make a decision on what support to give striking eastern seaboard postal workers, but he could not predict what action the membership might take.

He said Federation members are not especially communicative at this point.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The fish bowl of politics is not an easy place to be. Like so many other endeavors, it can leave the individual damned if he does and damned if he doesn't. Thus, President Nixon has received a cool reception in some quarters to his proposed new program of federal aid to needy college students.

The idea would be to provide more federally guaranteed loans to students from low-income families, thereby attempting to remove the financial stumbling block to higher education. But some educators and others have asked some pertinent questions.

Banks, they have said, may well provide no more money for such loans, even though they are guaranteed. And one educator asked just how big a favor we would be doing students to lend them money at high interest rates and for long terms.

President Nixon has leaned heavily on loan programs in other areas, as opposed to grants. The question asked by the educator is one that can be asked in other areas. How big a favor do we do people by providing them with loans when they otherwise might be unable to get them?

Undoubtedly there are times when we would do a favor. This would include such things as rural electrification, loans to farmers, home mortgage loans and others. Student loans have to date provided some young people with an education who might otherwise not have received one.

Nixon stated in proposing his program that "something is basically unequal when a young person whose family earns more than $15,000 a year is nine times more likely to attend college than a young person whose family earns less than $3,000."

Again, no one would argue with that. But is the answer really an extension of the loan program or might it not be found in the eradication of poverty? This is the kind of thing that is bothersome to the mind in regard to many of the President's programs.

There are strong indications that his cure for the farm program will end up being the elimination of many farmers. His efforts against crime carry with them a distinct threat to many of the constitutional freedoms of all people.

His civil rights program becomes so broad that it defies definition and loses all identity. His anti-inflation struggle tends to create hardships for those least able to afford it.

Thus, there is throughout much of his program a kind of confusion and conflict that are beginning to emerge as a circle with no real beginning and no real end. There is a tendency to strike at the surface of problems but to ignore their true essence, their real significance.

The student loan program, of course, was initiated under the auspices of past Democratic presidents. It was once a beginning, perhaps, on solving the problem but our challenge is to constantly improve on what we have.

We go in big for loans to low-income families in a number of areas. But the problem is that a loan is often not much of a solution. In fact, it can be the means of further misery and hardship.

It is great when one obtains the loan but it can be tough when it comes time to pay it off. The problem is that the low-income families lack the means of paying off their indebtedness.

Many students would be in the same shape. Presumably, they would so improve their income potential by graduating from college that their education loan would be no great burden to them.

But young people, even college graduates, starting out in the world today have one strike against them if they carry a heavy indebtedness. And a loan program to get their diploma would constitute a heavy debt.

It is true, as Nixon says, that there is something basically unequal but we should try to correct the inequality at its source, not at the point of consequence.

Defense Industry Claims To Be In Financial Crisis

WASHINGTON — The sickest industry in America today is not automobiles, homebuilding, or airlines. To the surprise of nearly everyone, defense contracting has surfaced as the candidate for this dubious honor. And as new hearings on Capitol Hill show, Congress is not above rubbing salt into the wounds of the "military-industrial complex."

Hearings on the jinxed F-111 are expected to reveal that costs have soared to more than $16 million a plane — $3 million higher than the top figure cited in previous testimony. By the time the Air Force gets its 547 swing-winged craft, it will have cost the taxpayers $8.7 billion.

Money overruns have lost much of their shock value since the troubles of the C-5A supersonic jet were aired last year. Very little notice was paid, for example, to the disclosure early this month that the cost of the Navy's Mark-43 torpedo system has grown from its original estimate of $655 million to the latest estimate of $3.9 billion.

While the Pentagon and defense contractors try to keep the fire on Capitol Hill contained, they're feeling new heat from other quarters. The most dogged critic of "military boondoggling" is A. Ernest Fitzgerald, a former Pentagon cost efficiency expert whose job was eliminated after he testified to Congress on the $1.3 billion in C-5A cost overruns.

Fitzgerald is co-chairman of the nation under the sponsorship of The Businessmen's Education Fund, telling business groups just how full of fat he thinks the defense budget is. He blames permissiveness in military procurement practices during the 1960s for much of today's inflation. "The military budget is high because the government officials who really matter want it that way," Fitzgerald charges. "... So far, both the President and the secretary of defense have avoided binding commitments to tough improvement goals."

Much of the spending at the defense industry has been based on the idea that the industry is rich and makes big profits. But economist Eliot Janeway points to the current financial crisis of Lockheed Aircraft Corp. as evidence that "the military-industrial complex is, instead, stone broke and, moreover, is breaking everything and everybody vulnerable to its distress."

Lockheed, the nation's largest defense contractor last year, wants the Defense Department to release more than $500 million currently involved in contract disputes so that it can avoid "impairment of continued performance." The company lost $32.6 million in 1969, in contrast to $44.5 million net profit in 1968. Defense officials agreed to provide Lockheed with interim financing so that the flow of military hardware can continue.

Defense procurement cutbacks combined with slashes in spending for space programs have left the nation's aerospace and defense industries in a bind. Unemployment in California, where dependency on such contracts is greatest, is up to 5 per cent. There is said to be a widespread feeling on the West Coast that California is leading the nation into the next recession.

Major dislocations in the defense-oriented U.S. economy seem to be inevitable. Even if the economy as a whole adjusts smoothly to defense cutbacks, there will be intense local difficulties. Advance planning for such difficulties is crucial to overcoming them. But this is just the kind of long-range vision that has been lacking in defense industries which, for a decade or more, have become accustomed to the pole position in the scramble for tax dollars.

'It Can't Pass Inspection! I've Been Told To Unload It!'

Two Germans Meet

East and West Germany concluded an historic meeting this week in the form of conferences between leading heads of state. East German Premier Willi Stoph and West German Chancellor Willy Brandt reportedly parted in cordiality, even though little of substance was accomplished.

But no great progress was anticipated. It is considered encouraging that the two Germans were able to meet in a harmonious atmosphere, with large East German crowds demonstrating their approval.

At this point in time, it would appear that Germany has finally resigned herself to a division that might never end. Consequently, it has proceeded to look toward an accommodation of that fact, to find the means whereby the two states can exist without conflict.

It will not be easy, what with a communist government on one side and a democratic government on the other. Nor will the divided city of Berlin and the infamous Berlin Wall make much of any contribution to the peace of Europe.

But Berliners and all Germans are slowly coming to the same realization that is pressing upon the rest of the world. This is the realization that civilization faces a menacing crossroads leading either to meaningful peace or virtual annihilation of the human race. A divided Germany remains one of the follies of the last world war but it need not and should not be the basis of still more international disaster.

Many problems remain between the two nations but the meeting between Stoph and Brandt has produced some hopeful signs for the future.

Cambodia Poses Threat

On the surface of it, the events in Cambodia during the week appear to weigh in favor of the United States. A strongly anti-communist premier, the new power behind the government, has replaced Prince Norodom Sihanouk with a new chief of state, one with the same anti-communist bias.

The prince is a wily fellow of high and varied talents and many high-ranking friends in Washington, but he couldn't successfully cope with the use of Cambodian territory as a refuge for North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops and he stands accused of political crimes ranging from nepotism and being a playboy to listening to his wife.

The new regime has pledged to continue Sihanouk's proclaimed policy of neutrality and the U.S. recognizes it through an assumption that the new government came to power by constitutional means, thus the continuity of government continues.

Premier Lon Nol, however, appears to be making moves that are stronger than Prince Sihanouk would have dared or wanted to try and which could backfire on the U.S. Large Cambodian army units, according to intelligence reports, are moving into the northeast corner of the country where the Vietnamese communist troops are camping in sanctuaries from the Vietnam war.

If the Cambodian army, which is smaller than the estimated aggregate number of communist forces, cannot move them out and the confrontation leads to a war between Cambodia and North Vietnam, who will be called upon to bail out the Cambodians or will the country be permitted to fall? The U.S. is the biggest factor in any of the possibilities and any desire to commit American forces to another country would blow the President's Southeast Asia policy to bits.

Still, for the present, a pro-American neutral government in Cambodia looks better than a pro-communist neutral government.

Postal Workers' Strike Typifies Thinking Today That Power And Defiance Are Only Solutions

NEW YORK — The idea is growing in America today that nothing succeeds but power. Reason, common sense, and compromise are ineffective, according to this theory, and defiance works. And the new thing and the most disturbing thing, is that most people seem to feel that this theory is not only wrong and dangerous, but that they are helpless to do anything about it.

The most powerful communities in the nation now seem most powerless when confronted by the defiance of the minority and the helplessness of the law and the majority. And the defiance of the minority is now spreading to government employees.

Last week, the municipal employees of San Francisco tied up the city for the first time in history. This week the federal employees have paralyzed the postal services of New York City, and their strike is spreading into neighboring states, against the clear prohibitions of the law.

The postal employees in New York have a legitimate grievance. They are asked to survive in this spectacularly expensive city on the same low wages that are tolerable for mail carriers in the small towns of the nation, and they have clearly decided that they can not only break the law but get away with it and be rewarded in the process.

One letter-carrier in New York expressed the defiant mood of the moment. "Everybody else strikes and gets a big pay increase," he told Damon Stetson of the New York Times. "The teachers, sanitation men and transit workers all struck in violation of the law and got big increases. Why shouldn't we? We've been nice guys too long."

No doubt New York will survive for a few days without mail, and considering all the junk mail, even rejoice, but surviving without law, without penalties even for federal employees who defy the law, is more serious.

"Government implies the power of making laws," said Alexander Hamilton in the Federalist Papers. "It is essential to the idea of a law that it be attended with a sanction; or, in other words, a penalty or punishment for disobedience. If there be no penalty annexed to disobedience, the resolutions or commands which pretend to be laws will, in fact, amount to nothing more than advice or recommendation."

This is about where we are today in the American cities, and even with the federal employees. They think there is no remedy for their grievances except defiance, and no penalty or punishment for defiance, which raises some interesting questions.

If government employees defy the law of the government, why shouldn't anybody else? If they are rewarded and not punished by their defiance, why not the

Flying Blind

Lincoln, Neb.

Imagine that you are seated on an airplane which has just taken off on a Chicago-to-Los Angeles flight. The time is the not too distant future. The voice of the pilot is heard over the intercom:

"Good morning, ladies and gentlemen, this is the captain speaking. Welcome aboard our flight. I hope that we have a safe trip for you today."

"I would like to share with you something which makes me especially happy. This is my first flight in this aircraft and even though some of my fellow pilots thought me unfilled, I was appointed to fill this position by the president of the company. I am very grateful for the opportunity to serve both you and his fine organization. Any apprehension that you have had as a result of reading about my previous record, which some have described as mediocre, is really without foundation. It is true that there always has been another pilot along to take over and correct the errors that I have made, but these errors have not been too frequent and only on a few occasions have I made the same mistake two or three times. You certainly will not be able to find anyone who will accuse me of snobbishly sticking my head above the crowd."

"If you look out the window, you will see that we are passing over the state of Nebraska. I must confess that I feel a certain twinge of regret at this time, because that state was the home of a benefactor of mine. This man was a United States senator and happened to have great though indirect influence over the president of my company and, hence, over myself. He was a champion of those of us who might not always fit into the 'superior' category. His words convinced my boss to allow me to take charge of this flight today. I had hoped that he might be with us, but tragedy overtook him. It seems that while in a foreign country, he was taken ill. When offered the services of a most excellent surgeon, he chose to be true to his principles, and in the fact of pressure from the crowd, chose a man they all called mediocre. My benefactor was a man of fortitude and courage. It is most unfortunate that an unforeseen complication developed and that he no longer can be counted among the living. Those of us who remain behind will always honor and follow his teachings."

"I hope that this small personal story may be of some help to each of you. We have come to the first stop in our journey and so will you please fasten your seat belts. We will be landing in a few minutes at Denver. Or is it Salt Lake City?"

I am not a Lincolnite nor am I affiliated with the VA Hospital in any way. However, I am eager to defend the reputation of the VA Hospital at Lincoln. As a career serviceman, I have had ample opportunity to visit several VA hospitals, military hospitals and civilian hospitals, both as a patient, in the line of duty and as a mere visitor. Never have I seen a cleaner and more orderly hospital, nor a more courteous and efficient staff than is found in the Lincoln VA.

Recently, the Navy saw fit to commend both the administrator, Dr. Coulter, and the senior staff physician, Dr. Miller, for their outstanding efforts, which, in my opinion, was very well deserved praise.

I am thankful for the VA Hospital and place little credence on the reports supposedly received by Mr. Harmon. If the Lincoln VA Hospital is in "deplorable condition," I can only wonder where he has inspected a cleaner unit. Utopia, perhaps?

The Cozad basketball champions also showed their outstanding abilities when they were interviewed after their game. Each spoke so sincerely, gave credit to others for their victory, expressed themselves well and in grammatically correct terms.

Cozad must be very proud of these young citizens. May they attain as much success in their futures as they have in their sports activities. Congratulations to these poised young champions.

THELMA N. RODEHOHR

They Had A Dream

Alain Leroy Locke was a philosopher by profession. But America knew him in another role: as literary and art critic and as a spokesman for the Negro's artistic contribution to culture.

Locke was a major force in an artistic awakening in the Twenties, referred to as the "Harlem Renaissance."

He helped and encouraged emerging Negro artists, chronicled and interpreted their work to all of America.

In his role as a cultural spokesman, Locke also became an outspoken champion of equality — pointing out the waste involved in judging a man by the color of his skin instead of by his accomplishments.

Recognized as an outstanding scholar, author, educator and critic, Locke wrote more than a dozen books on Negro life and culture. Many of them were widely acclaimed.

The subject matter ranged from African folk art to America's only native musical form—jazz.

Locke was backed by impressive credentials in his position as interpreter of Negro art.

Born in Philadelphia in 1886, he attended Central High School there and then enrolled at Harvard University where he earned his bachelor's degree, with honors, in 1908.

He was chosen as a Rhodes scholar and studied at Oxford University until 1910. Then he spent two years at the University of Berlin as a graduate student.

He returned to the United States in 1912 to accept a post as assistant professor of philosophy at Howard University but continued his studies and was awarded a Ph.D. by Harvard in 1918.

Locke then became chairman of Howard's philosophy department and remained on the faculty for 40 years.

He began writing on racial problems and Negro art while still a graduate student. His first book, "Race Contacts and Intra-Racial Relations," was published in 1916.

But it wasn't until 1925 that he gained national attention for his book on the cultural achievements of his race, entitled "The New Negro."

By pointing up black accomplishments, Locke felt he could help create a healthy interracial atmosphere in which all men were judged on merit.

Locke's influence was felt throughout the creative sphere of black America. He was an adviser to the Harlem Experimental Theatre, founded in 1928, and was the founder of Associates in Negro Folk Education.

He saw to it that the literary work of promising Negroes got into print by editing such works as "Plays of Negro Life," an anthology.

One of his most widely acclaimed works was "The Negro in Art," a survey ranging from African ancestral art to modern painting.

Locke retired from his post at Howard in 1953. He died the following year.

DeBacker Loses Another Round

By Associated Press
Clarence DeBacker, the Fremont juvenile judge who has won freedom from the Nebraska Supreme Court and once reached the U.S. Supreme Court, lost another round in court Friday.

A split Nebraska Supreme Court affirmed the Lancaster District Court in dismissing DeBacker's request for a writ of habeas corpus.

DeBacker was adjudged a juvenile delinquent in 1968, was

Arguello's Life Terms Are Upheld

By Associated Press
The life sentences given Richard F. Arguello in Lincoln for murder in the deaths of his wife and daughter were upheld by the State Supreme Court Friday.

Arguello had pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the slayings of Joyce Frieda Arguello and Shawn Marie Arguello and drew life terms on each count, the sentences to run concurrently.

Lawyers for Arguello sought to get the sentences reduced on grounds his wife had subjected Arguello to "extreme provocation" before and at the time of the killings, sufficient to cause Arguello "temporarily to lose his senses."

Said the Supreme Court: "We find nothing in the record to support a finding that the sentence imposed was the result of an abuse of discretion on the part of the trial court."

In other opinions Friday, the court:

—Reversed the Cass County District Court, which had found in favor of the defendant, William Budd, in a traffic accident damage suit brought by State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. The Supreme Court directed the district court to enter a judgment in favor of the insurance company.

—Upheld the Lancaster District Court in awarding Edith Crosswhite $14,500 for injuries received when she tripped and fell on a city sidewalk. The defendants were the city of Lincoln and individual owners of property adjoining the street and sidewalk.

—Affirmed the two to four year sentence given Dallas Denbo in Chase County District Court after Denbo allegedly violated terms of probation on a previous breaking and entering charge.

—Sent back to Douglas County District Court for new trial the case of William Yangstrom, convicted of manslaughter. The reversal was ordered on grounds the jury was not properly instructed on the self defense issue.

—Agreed with the Buffalo County District Court in refusing to dismiss a property settlement incidental to a divorce obtained by Naomi Zachry from Nelse Zachry.

placed in the Kearney Boys Training School and later was transferred to the Nebraska Penal Complex on an administrative finding of incorrigibility.

In the majority opinion Friday, Supreme Court Judge Leslie Boslaugh recalled that four of the seven judges previously had agreed with DeBacker's contention that Nebraska's Juvenile Court Act is unconstitutional because it denies juveniles the right to jury trial. But under Nebraska's Constitution, five judges must concur to declare a state law unconstitutional.

Judge Boslaugh's opinion rejected DeBacker's new contention that classifying juveniles separately from adults violates the equal protection clause of the U.S. Constitution. Other arguments advanced by William Line of Fremont, DeBacker's attorney, also were rejected by the majority opinion.

The U.S. Supreme Court late last year decided that the DeBacker case was not a proper vehicle for testing Nebraska's juvenile law because the case developed before the May 20, 1968 date when the court's position on such matters was changed through a case known to lawyers as Duncan versus Louisiana.

Judge Robert L. Smith joined in the result of Boslaugh's majority opinion Friday only because the DeBacker case antedated May 20, 1968.

Judge Harry Spencer dissented from the majority opinion and renewed his previously advanced opinion that Nebraska's five-judge rule itself violates the federal constitution.

Additionally, Spencer wrote: "The position of the majority here is that since juveniles may properly be classified separately from adults for certain purposes, they may also be classified separately from adults in granting or withholding specifically guaranteed constitutional rights. That position simply means that a juvenile is not a 'person' or a 'citizen' protected by either the state or the federal constitution. That position I cannot accept."

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Secretary Has Three Dreams

By ROBERT PETERSON
Q.—"I've worked 30 years as an executive secretary and will retire next year at 65 with a top pension. Here are my three retirement dreams. First, I'd like to attend a finishing school where they teach you how to dress, use cosmetics, etc. Second, I'd like to get a face lift. My morale will rise if I can remedy my saggy jowls and baggy eyes. Third, I'd like to hunt seriously for a husband for I hate to think of going to my grave a spinster. Am I being foolish?"

A.—Not at all. Retirement should be a time to turn the page and start a fresh chapter filled with new pursuits and experiences. If you've long dreamed of making yourself more attractive, now's the time. If the jowls and baggy eyes bother you, check with a reputable facial surgeon and see what he suggests. And if you're determined to try matrimony, remind yourself that while the pickings are lean after 60, there's probably an unattached male tucked away somewhere on this planet who will fall for your charms and vice versa.

Q.—"Please urge folks not to act rashly in a crisis. My husband died last year and two days after the funeral someone offered to buy the house. It seems like a generous offer so I sold, put the money in the bank, and moved to a two bedroom rental apartment. My son knew about the money and pestered me to loan him $5,000 cash for a business which has since failed. And a little later my daughter separated from her husband and had to move in with me, bringing her small son. How I wish I had kept the old house! Prices have gone up and I couldn't buy a house now if I wanted to."

A.—Thanks for your letter. Bereavement often brings strains and tensions which may cause an individual to act without thinking. As a general rule, a bereaved individual should wait a year or more before making any major decisions such as selling a home or moving to a new community.

Q.—"I'm 68, retired, weigh a flabby 187, and don't exactly cut an ideal figure in swimming trunks. My wife says it's a disgrace for me to waddle around the shape I'm in. But I just learned to swim two years ago and we're paying hefty high season rates at this Florida resort where we're spending the winter. Don't you feel I'm as entitled as the next member to wear swim trunks?"

A.—Sure do. Folks who attend resorts should be prepared to see all kinds, shapes and sizes of humanity. I don't imagine your avoirdupois is any more oddly distributed than that of a great many others who may be disporting themselves in the surf and sand. But why don't you try reducing, or at least toughening up the flab? If you had the initiative to learn to swim a couple of years ago, why not resolve to achieve a trimmer figure the next two years?

Tax Commissioner Refuses To Fire Field Appraiser

By Associated Press
State Tax Commissioner Murrell B. McNeil has rejected demands that field appraiser Bill Wefso of Atkinson be fired.

The Holt County Taxpayers League had complained that Wefso was "biased and unfair."

McNeil said Wefso is an expert on land classification in northern Nebraska, and it becomes "a dangerous situation when any person or small group can single out a public employee for reasons that have gone back over the years and are personal in nature and demand that he sever his service with government."

However, McNeil said he was removing Holt County from Wefso's territory and was assigning Lloyd Minkten of Sidney, the state supervisor of appraisals, to deal with Holt County in the future.

The only reason for this shift, McNeil said, "is because we want to get an important job done — and we don't want to get into arguments about personalities."

McNeil said Wefso's troubles with some Holt County landowners date back to a time when Wefso was county assessor.

Susan Deitemeyer Is A Friday Bride

For the wedding of Miss Susan Kay Deitemeyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Deitemeyer of Beatrice and Robert Thacker, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Thacker, which took place on Friday evening, March 20, the sanctuary of the Centenary Methodist Church in Beatrice was appointed with roses in tones of pink. The 7:30 o'clock candlelight ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Clarence Buehler, and Miss Imogene Scammon played the wedding music. Gary Granquist was the vocal soloist.

Mrs. Roger Beverage was her sister's matron of honor, and included in the threesome of bridesmaids were Mrs. Bartley Forbes of Dallas, Tex., sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Ronald Stading, Mrs. William Jepsen of St. Paul, Minn. The four bridesmaids were Miss Katie Guild of Omaha; Miss Carrie Douglass of Ft. Riley, Kan.; Miss Ann Kohlmeier of Sioux Falls, S.D. and Miss Ann Brayton of Stuart. The attendants appeared in alike frocks of taupe de soie and chiffon. The matron of honor and the bridesmaids appeared in the petal pink shade and the bridesmaids were in the samaron rose tone. The empire bodices were designed with Eton collars and cuffed Bishop sleeves. They carried bouquets of bridal pink and aristocrat roses.

Gary Granquist of Omaha served as best man and the groomsmen and ushers included David Buntain, Brian Heacock, David Piester, William Richardson of Kansas City, Mo., James Evinger of Boulder, Colo., William Jepsen of St. Paul, Minn., Bruce Christianson of Bowling Green, Ky., Roger Beverage, James Schaffer, Bartley Forbes of Dallas, Tex. and Thomas Wiese of Omaha.

Satin-faced organza fashioned the gown chosen by the bride for her wedding. The sculptured Empire bodice, patterned with a lace plastron, was designed with a mandarin collar edged with rosettes of seed pearls and crystals, and long, cuffed Bishop sleeves. The skirt, in the dirndl mode, was completed with a cathedral train. Her train-length veil of illusion was held to the head with a cap of gown-matching jeweled lace, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and pink hyacinths, centered with white orchids.

Mr. Thacker and his bride will reside at 1409 F St., in Lincoln.

The bride will be graduated in June from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority of which she has served as president. The bride appeared in a gown of organza and Alencon lace. The lace formed an overlay for the Empire bodice, designed with a high, minutely bowed collar, and fashioned the cuffed, Bishop sleeves. The lace motif was repeated in applique on to pattern the floor-length skirt of organza. Her floor-length veil of illusion was lace bordered and was accented with a blusher veil. Both were held in place with a crown of lace. She carried a bouquet of red and white roses.

Opening lead — king of clubs.

The most interesting hands are those where there is a running battle between the declarer and the defenders, first one side and then the other attempting to score the lethal blow. Consider this deal where both sides poured a maximum amount of effort into the struggle.

West led the king of clubs, on which East played the queen. In accordance with standard convention, East's queen play guaranteed either the jack or no more clubs.

It was not difficult for West to conclude from the bidding that East had the jack rather than a void of clubs. So West shifted to his singleton heart at trick two, planning later to lead a low club to the jack and thus get a heart ruff to defeat the contract.

Declarer realized what West had in mind and made his first good move when he won the heart shift in dummy and played a spade to the ace, deliberately giving up the chance of winning a trump finesse.

He then led the queen of diamonds, finessing against the king, and continued with a diamond to the ten. After discarding a club on the ace of diamonds, declarer played the jack of diamonds and on it discarded his last club.

As a result of this key play, South was now home. West won the diamond with the king but could not put East on lead for the heart ruff. The only other trick West made was the king of spades, and South made exactly four spades.

It is true that West could have defeated the contract by leading a heart at trick one and later underleading his A-K of clubs, but, in fairness to West, it should be said this method of defense is much easier to find when you see all four hands.

Abby: this time, pass the buck

DEAR ABBY: I have been married nearly two years, and I will never forget one wedding present because 16 of my husband's relatives pitched in and bought it for me. It was an electric appliance which they got wholesale. I figured out that they each put in one dollar!

One of my husband's sisters happens to be very well off, and now she is moving into a new home and is telling everyone not to buy her a house gift. She wants "cash" instead as she is afraid they might select things which won't look right in her house.

What do you think I should give her?

EYE FOR AN EYE

DEAR EYE: Since you obviously are an "eye for an eye" believer, give her a dollar. But she's your husband's sister, so pass the buck, and let him decide.

DEAR ABBY: In reply to the person who said shampooing the hair too often "damages" it, I am a student of hair chemistry, and I can tell you that shampooing, permanent waving, bleaching, and dying hair will not harm it one bit.

Hair is damaged by pep pills, sleeping pills, diet pills, tranquilizers, and the worst offender being birth control pills.

Also, surgery, shock, and nervous disorders rob the hair of lustre and life.

Medication of all types is filtered out thru the hair shaft within two weeks. Anyone knowledgeable in the field of hair chemistry can tell by running his fingers thru a person's hair whether that person is healthy or not. Sick hair accompanies a sick body.

King's Faith In Nonviolence Is Emphasized In New Film

By ARNOLD B. SAWISLAK
Washington (UPI) — There is a scene in the new film about Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in which he is struck by a rock while leading a march. He winces at the blow and then looks around in puzzlement as his companions seek to shelter him. News men crowd forward to ask if he is hurt.

King slips off his tie. "No, I've been hit in the head so many times I'm immune to it."

The voice is not that of King in the pulpit, on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial or before the news cameras. It is softer and without the surging fervor that is familiar. And it seemed to this viewer that he sensed his time was running out.

It All Happened
King: A Filmed Record... Montgomery to Memphis... may be the most violent motion picture of the year. To show in 2½ hours the public life of this black preacher between 1955 and 1968 requires such scenes of blood and boiling emotion that the viewer may leave the theater feeling pummeled. Even worse is the knowledge that it all happened. But violence is not what this film is all about. It is about something that is as hard to accept in a darkened theater as it was when it was happening at the bus stops in Montgomery, in the crushing stream of fire hoses in Birmingham, at the Pettus Bridge in Selma and on the streets of Cicero.

It is that Martin Luther King never stopped believing that nonviolence would win. From the first days of the bus boycott, when he heard him say: "If we are wrong, justice is a lie," to the end at Memphis, when he cries "I have been to the mountain," King never said "Hit back." Nor is there anything to be read in the face that changes from sleek youth to puffy middle age in 13 hectic years that hints of flagging faith.

Even when his last march in Memphis ended in the disaster of black-initiated violence, King did not seem to consider that he may have been wrong. He does then, however, actually seem to be a man who sees himself dead, and perhaps preferring it to doubt.

The audience knows what happened a short time later on the Memphis motel balcony. There are only a few glimpses of what movie biographers usually fancy as the "human side" of their subject. There is a quick look at a very nervous man about to receive the Nobel Prize while he is praised in Swedish and a rare moment in Chicago when the all-stops-out singing of Mahalia Jackson brings a slow smile to his face. But aside from that it is almost entirely the picture of a man who belonged to the public.

Special Fund
Every cent collected at the special showings Tuesday at 1,000 theaters in more than 300 cities goes to a special fund dedicated to carrying on King's ideals and work.

(In Lincoln the film, sponsored by the Council of Churches and Church Women United, will be shown at the Nebraska Theater at 8 p.m. Tuesday.)

But when you have paid your $5, you get no hard sell message. You only get another look at Martin Luther King, believe him or not.

Senate OKs Draft Head

Washington (UPI) — The Senate took only minutes Friday to approve the nomination of Curtis W. Tarr, a draftee himself in World War II, as the new director of the Selective Service System.

Tarr, a gangling, soft-spoken Californian, will succeed Gen. Lewis B. Hershey in the $38,000-a-year post.

Senators approved Tarr's selection on a voice vote without dissent within five minutes after taking it up.

Brandt Assesses Meeting In Erfurt

The New York Times

Bonn — Chancellor Willy Brandt of West Germany Friday described his meeting with Premier Willi Stoph of East Germany in Erfurt as a hopeful first step in breaching the wall of hostility and ideological differences that has been built up over the past quarter of a century between the two parts of this divided nation.

"The trip to Erfurt was right," Brandt told the Bundestag Friday morning.

"It was necessary," the chancellor added. "And it was useful."

Brandt was a bit hoarse; he also looked tired.

Effect Of Crowds

The chancellor was also plainly worried that the crowds that had surged past the police barriers in Erfurt to cheer him could jeopardize the next summit, set for May 21 in Kassel, West Germany.

Brandt and Stoph seemed to have got along well together, even though the East German premier was visibly unsettled by the demonstration for Brandt.

Egon Franke, the West German minister for intra-German relations, made an attempt at a news conference Friday to shift the significance of the demonstration in Erfurt.

Pro-Summit, He Says

Even though the people were chanting "Willy Brandt! Willy Brandt!" Franke said he took it to be a show of support for the summit, not a show of enthusiasm for the West German chancellor.

"They certainly weren't against the DDR (East German government)," he said.

Brandt also made some effort Friday to impress on the Bundestag how slow progress necessarily had to be, and how firmit Stoph had adhered to his position.

"The government of the DDR concentrates absolutely on recognition, as it sees it, without giving any indication of the changes it has in mind for living together and working together in the two states in Germany," he said.

He added that he had held firmly to West Germany's stand that formal, diplomatic recognition of East Germany was out of the question, and that both states had to recognize that relations between them had to be of a special nature.

"Erfurt could only be a beginning," Brandt said. "It was a beginning."

City-Owned Houses Unsuitable For Renting To Be Sold

City-owned houses unsuitable for renting will be auctioned off, Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf announced Friday.

The public sale is part of a new plan for the disposition of houses which the city acquires in the path of the Northeast Radial.

City Atty. Norman Krivosha had recommended the plan, approved by the mayor Friday after consultation with other city department heads, as a way to prevent further incidents of house-stripping.

Krivosha said last week that the house-stripping incidents were the result of poor communication among city officials and the lack of a clear-cut procedure.

Under the plan, notice will be published announcing that a house will be offered for sale at public auction, possibly once every one or two weeks.

Homes not sold will be burned. The houses, though, will not be placed upon a demolition list until just before they are to be demolished.

Listed Houses Hit

Krivosha had pointed out that only those houses on the demolition list, which was circulated in advance of the actual demolition, were stripped.

The new procedure also calls for no city employee nor department head to remove anything from the houses without first advising Denis Fetting, the city's property manager, of what is to be removed and the date of removal.

The mayor added that he hoped the city would not get into the practice of auctioning off articles in houses not sold. He said there is a liability problem should a person become injured while removing something from a city-owned house.

City To Seek Ruling On Legality Of Firing Employee Seeking Office

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said Friday that the city plans to seek a declaratory judgment on the constitutionality of a City Charter provision which requires city employees to forfeit their jobs if they run for a public office.

The suit, which would be heard in District Court, stems from the recent dismissal of a city employee who filed as a candidate for sheriff.

Ed Pierce, a former fireman, was told by city officials he was being dismissed because of his running for public office.

An appeal by Pierce for reinstatement was turned down by the City Personnel Board on the grounds that the board could not take any action that would conflict with city laws.

Schwartzkopf announced the plans to seek a court test on the constitutionality of the charter provision after conferring with City Atty. Norman Krivosha about the dismissal.

Asst. City Atty. Dick Wood had told Personnel Board members that the charter provision and also a city ordinance "appear to be unconstitutional" in requiring a person to lose his job because of running for public office.

Wood said that courts in other states have ruled similar ordinances unconstitutional.

Student Musicians Display Talents

Nearly 500 young musicians from the Lincoln public secondary schools displayed their skill Friday night before an estimated 800 spectators.

A 350-piece composite junior high school orchestra, a 140-piece composite senior high orchestra, and an orchestra consisting of the string players from the senior high group, performed selections ranging from pre-Classical to Romantic to contemporary.

Guest conductor of all three groups was Louis Trzcinski, assistant professor of music at the University of Nebraska.

Instrumental

Lincoln Public Schools Music Director Kenneth Stoll, introducing Trzcinski, referred to the educator and conductor as "instrumental" in organizing the Nebraska string instructing program.

Trzcinski originated the Nebraska String Plan, a program which initiates string groups in smaller Nebraska towns. He is nationally known for his experiments in string instruction, and for his use of photographic analysis in his study of bowing techniques.

Trzcinski is also the author of two textbooks widely used in teaching the history of Western music.

Credit Given

Stoll gave credit for the development of young musical talent in Lincoln to the public schools staff, which he called "one of the instrumental staffs in the country," and to Lincoln's many private instructors.

The junior high orchestra performed "Romance in G" by Beethoven, "Five Courtly Dances" by the British contemporary Benjamin Britten, and "Legend" by Isaac.

The string orchestra played a "Suite for String Orchestra" by C. P. E. Bach and an arrangement of "The Wide Missouri" by Dragon.

The senior high orchestra performed the first movement of Brahms' Symphony No. 2, "Capriccio Italien" by Tchaikovsky, and "Prairie Overture" by Ward.

Tests Claimed No Measure Of Title I Program's Results

Lincoln school officials disagree with statements that federal Title I programs for disadvantaged children have had no significant effects on students.

Commenting in an article on the success of Title I in Lincoln, published in the district's Education Insights magazine, administrators point out that the conclusions are based on results of standardized achievement tests.

A national news service article had stated after interviews with school officials, teachers and parents in 15 states, "almost no school district could demonstrate, on the basis of objective tests, that a majority of children enrolled in Title I programs had been significantly affected."

Lincoln Title I director Dr. Fred Peterson stated "these statements are correct based on the results of standardized achievement tests. But these tests are designed for middle class children, and there's a real question as to their validity when applied to the disadvantaged child."

According to Peterson, the "biggest success with Title I is its impact on attitudes, and how do you measure attitudes?"

Former Title I summer school director Dr. Lyle Bargman agreed, saying "you can't possibly measure everything Title I kids have learned through tests."

Service Cut On California Zephyr OKd

Chicago (AP) — Discontinuance of the western legs of the famed California Zephyr passenger train moved closer Friday.

A three judge federal panel denied an application by the City of Chicago and the United Transportation Union for a temporary restraining order against the Interstate Commerce Commission and three western railroads.

The judges' decision will permit the Denver, Rio Grande and Western Railroad, which operates the middle leg of the Chicago to Oakland, Calif., run, to cut back service between Denver and Salt Lake City from seven to three days a week. It also will permit the Western Pacific Railroad to turn over the Salt Lake City-Oakland leg to the Southern Pacific Railroad, which would run the Zephyr three times a week.

No Final Decision

Although the temporary restraining order and an interlocutory injunction were denied, the judges have not reached a final decision on the suit filed by Chicago and the union.

Until a final decision is reached, the railroads will be required to retain all equipment necessary for running the Zephyr on a daily basis.

The last regularly scheduled Zephyr left Chicago Thursday afternoon filled to capacity with railroad buffs and special guests.

Burlington Not Named

The Burlington Northern Railroad, which operates the eastern leg of the Zephyr, is not named in the suit, as the Zephyr is still scheduled for a daily run between Chicago and Denver.

The Western Pacific Railroad, a relatively small line, testified in the original hearings before the ICC that it was losing $6,500 a day in operating its leg of the Zephyr. The ICC authorized the shift to the Union Pacific and the partial discontinuance.

Opponents of the ICC ruling charge that the partial discontinuance may kill the train entirely by imposing a change of trains on passengers in Utah.

Some persons have charged that the delay will cause passengers to take the Union Pacific "City of San Francisco" instead.

The "City of San Francisco" will also go on a three-days-a-week schedule Monday.

Korea Expects Aid

A Closer Walk With God Will Lead You Right Straight to Church

He Always Heals

A robust man you are today, Full of vigor, vitality and vim; But through some common stroke of fate, Now, you must depend only on Him. Yet, when your stretcher rolls into your ward, The great physicians will do their best; Their skills and tools will work in rhyme, But to really heal, "It Takes God Every Time." Ancient man believed demons and unclean spirits caused our ills and they, along with us, believe that only a great and good power can drive out these evil things.

Our hats are off to physicians, surgeons, nurses and all the wonderful healing fraternity. They are God's assistants, but they would be the first to join the Psalmist of old in saying, that it is God, "who healeth all my diseases."

We must have God. We might find Him in the little church on the corner. Have you tried? To really Heal, It Takes God Every Time.

You In The Church The Church In You

Aurora Airport Construction Grant Increased

The State Aeronautics Commission Friday increased a state aid grant by $12,846 to $41,046 to the Aurora Airport Authority for airport construction.

State Airport Engineer Walt Kreuscher said land condemnation costs were $16,000 higher than estimated in the $160,000 project, financed by state, federal and local funds.

"Unless the commission bails them out on the land acquisition," Kreuscher said, "the airport project is jeopardized."

The additional $12,846 is subject to a matched amount from local funds.

The commission approved the Theford Airport Authority's participation in the state hangar program for an estimated $25,000 shop hangar. The state will participate in up to $17,600 of the hangar's cost, subject to repayment into the hangar program on a 10-year schedule.

Additionally, the commission approved $4,050 in state aid toward construction of a $9,000 public waiting area in the shop hangar.

The commission conditionally okayed Millard Airport Authority's request for 20 T-hangars, estimated at $33,000, under the state hangar program.

Ten hangars were approved with ten additional hangars okayed if the Millard authority documents the need for the additional hangars and the establishment of a fixed base operation.

Also ratified was the purchase of a single-engine, six-place Bonanza executive aircraft from Duncan Aviation of Lincoln at a net cost of $21,930.

Duncan's bid, opened last month, was $52,930 for the new plane, less $31,000 trade-in on the State Aeronautics Department's six-year-old plane.

The commission scheduled its next monthly meeting for April 17.

Democrat Lauds NFO's Caravan

Democratic gubernatorial candidate J. J. Exon Friday called the National Farmers Organization truck caravan to Kansas City "one of the most constructive and effective actions" yet taken by Nebraska farmers.

Exon complimented NFO leadership on their actions, noting that "I believe such actions are the best way to continue to focus attention on the serious plight facing Nebraska's No. 1 industry."

The Democratic hopeful was at the scene Wednesday when 89 truckloads of corn left the Fairgrounds at Lincoln for Kansas City.

Accident Kills 3-Year-Old

Marsland, Neb. (UPI) — Sean Patrick Manning, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Manning of rural Marsland, was killed Friday in an accident at his farm home.

Authorities said the accident at the farm, located 15 miles west of here, occurred when the boy was run over by a "motorized vehicle" driven by the father.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Donovan of Chadron, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Mary Manning of Hemingford.

College Meet Planned

The board of trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges reported it will hold a regularly called meeting at Wayne State College Thursday, beginning at 9 a.m.

by Bob Metcalf

The late Knute Rockne, famous coach at Notre Dame, knew the value of power of suggestion and used it often. But he always suited his method of applying it to the temperament of the individual team. In one particular case, the team was trailing, playing poorly. The players awaited Rockne's entrance nervously. He opened the dressing room door—"Oh, excuse me, I made a mistake. I thought these were the quarters of the Notre Dame team." The door closed, the team went out for the second half—and won the game.

Tourney Backyard Brawl

New York (P) — St. John's irrepressible gang of alley fighters take on tourney-toughened Marquette Saturday in a backyard brawl for the championship of the 33rd National Invitation basketball Tournament.

It's a homecoming for Marquette, a Midwestern school with New York roots. Coach Al McGuire and stars Dean Meminger and Ric Cobb all played basketball on the sidewalks of New York. The game will be televised nationally over CBS at 12 p.m. CST.

"We look forward to tourneys," said McGuire, a St. John's graduate. "We're tournament-hardened. We've played in many — that's what we shoot for each season."

McGuire said he was happy to be favored in the big one.

"I like being favored," he told a press conference at Madison Square Garden Friday. "I like getting out of the starting gate fast. We're good. We haven't once said we're bad — and we try to psyche the other team."

Lou Carnesecca, the St. John's coach who leaves the school after this season for a pro career, knows his two-fisted underdogs will be in for a battle with Marquette, the nation's eighth-ranked team.

"But I'm here because I think we can win," he added.

Carnesecca said the contest would be decided on the boards: "The guys who do the best job rebounding."

McGuire didn't agree, pointing out that Marquette's "best offense is its defense."

"If St. John's can penetrate, they'll win," said McGuire frankly. "If we can get a few turnovers while they're bringing the ball upcourt . . . then it'll be our game."

"They're capable of beating us . . . but we'll come at them, keep on their chest and find a defense that really works."

It was Marquette's magnificent defense that shut off Louisiana State's All-American, Peter Maravich, in a 101-79 semifinal victory Thursday night.

The Warriors also beat Massachusetts and Utah enroute to the finals to bring their season's record to 24-3. This is the second time Marquette has made the finals of the N.I.T., losing to Southern Illinois in the 1967 championship game.

St. John's, which holds NIT marks for most appearances, 19, and most titles, 4, has reached the final round six times. The Redmen won titles in 1943, 1944, 1959 and 1965.

The Redmen bounced Miami, Ohio, in the first round, then pulled out two heart-stopping victories in the quarter and semifinal rounds — beating Georgia Tech 56-55 and Army 60-59 in typically bruising games.

Maravich has a sore left ankle and painful hip injury and could possibly miss the morning game for third place between L.S.U. and Army.

"He'll start if he can walk," said an L.S.U. spokesman, who added that doctors were treating Maravich's injuries suffered in tournament games.

'PINKY' WINS AT FONNER

'PINKY' . . . aboard first mount, Kay's Ego.

Female Jockey Captures Two Of Three Rides

. . . SHOWS IN FIRST RACE

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Grand Island — Nebraska racing fans did not warm up immediately to the idea of a woman jockey, but before the afternoon was over Pinkie Smith had made believers out of the record opening day crowd of 6,424 at Fonner Park here Friday.

Pinkie, the first woman to ride on a Nebraska track since Wampha Davis was riding in Lincoln in 1943, rode two winners and one show horse in three trips to the starting gate.

The 20-year old native of Washington was aboard Kay's

Ego in the first race and fans bet the horse from a 5-1 opening line to 14-1 at post time, indicating they were not impressed with the gal jockey's debut.

Kay's Ego finished third, but two races later Pinkie came back and did impress them. She picked up the 21st victory of her riding career bringing Great Mito home first by nine lengths for a $13 payoff.

Great Mito is owned by Pinkie's mother, Birdie Peltier and trained by her father, Walter.

She came back in the featured eighth race to bring Tenno Pride from far off the pace to win the Fonner Park Inaugural Handicap by two and one-half lengths over Navashane.

Tenno Pride broke badly from the starting gate and was in last place by a dozen lengths as the horses entered the first turn.

Then Pinkie began moving the horse up and took the lead as they came out of the last turn. The win also returned $13 for a winning ticket, the same as Great Mito paid.

However, running in last place cost Pinkie a chance to pick up another win.

While running behind the other horses, she was hit in the nose by a clod and had to be taken off her mount, Cook's Prince, in the ninth race.

The record crowd bet a record day handle of $319,957.

The old opening day record was set in 1968 with a crowd of 6,616 betting $304,130.

Another new to the state of Nebraska, Robert Young who had been riding at Sunland Park in New Mexico, also had a successful Fonner Day debut. He rode both ends of a $189.60 daily double with Little Kahuna winning the first race for a $45.60 payoff and True Count returning $15.20 in the second.

Jockey Kenneth Jones rode three winners, with Tom's Buy in the fourth, Splinter in the sixth and Ray Straw in the ninth. Last year's leading jockey, Fred Ecoffey, was shut out of the winner's circle on opening day.

Bold Accent, winner of nearly $100,000, has drawn a top weight of 122 pounds for today's Featured Jake Grasmick Memorial Handicap. One of Bold Accent's toughest challenges is expected to be Melmitch with Pinkie Smith in the saddle. She also is scheduled to ride Margo C. in the first race today, Wal's Gamble in the third and Buck Shot in the fifth.

Class B Picks Are High Scorers

. . . AVERAGED 120 POINTS PER GAME

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

What a pleasant prospect it would be to coach a high school basketball team that would average 120 points a game throughout an entire season.

That happy task would await the mentor who could assemble the 1970 Lincoln Star Class B all-state team as a single unit.

The two juniors and three seniors who comprise the quintet poured a total of 2,563 points through the nets during the past season.

"They're capable of beating us . . . but we'll come at them, keep on their chest and find a defense that really works."

The Redmen bounced Miami, Ohio, in the first round, then pulled out two heart-stopping victories in the quarter and semifinal rounds — beating Georgia Tech 56-55 and Army 60-59 in typically bruising games.

Maravich has a sore left ankle and painful hip injury and could possibly miss the morning game for third place between L.S.U. and Army.

"He'll start if he can walk," said an L.S.U. spokesman, who added that doctors were treating Maravich's injuries suffered in tournament games.

both outside and inside with equal regularity while hitting right at 50 percent."

Harmon was the next most prolific point-producer. The tallest member of the mythical quintet, the 6-7 Schuyler ace tallied 512 points during the year for a 24.4 per game average.

Harmon had the rare experience of starting a state tournament game in four consecutive seasons.

He started for coach Muma's Warriors as a freshman when Schuyler made the finals, then as a sophomore when they took the title.

The final two Harmon seasons the Warriors also were district champs, though edged in first-round state action.

A great rebounder, Harmon had 370 carom recoveries to go with a 60 percent field goal shooting average.

Kropp, who set a new scoring record at Aurora during his Junior season with 424 points, comes next with a 23.5 per game average.

The 225-pound junior was also an all-state choice after the football season. Kropp, a top student as well as an athlete, averaged 14 rebounds a game for the Huskies, who will have all but one of their top six performers back again next year.

Erwin, who will also return for another season with Laurel, averaged 21 points a game while helping the Bears gain the state tournament finals.

A starter since his freshman year, Erwin has played on three teams which compiled a 64-6 record.

"Steve's an easy boy to coach," Laurel mentor Larry Moore says. "He gives 100 percent at all times, including practice, and does it all — shoot, rebound, handle the ball and play defense."

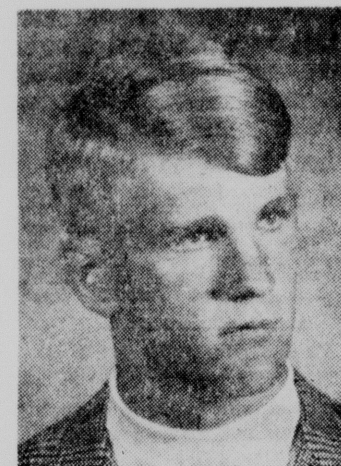

Erwin pulled down 441 rebounds during the past season, for a 16.3 average while scoring 568 points.

Sitorius, playing on a well-balanced Cozad quintet that went all the way to the state championship without a loss, was the Haymakers top scorer and second leading rebounder.

Giant Slalom Win Grabbed By Kidd

Vail, Colo. (P) — Smooth skiing Bill Kidd of Stowe, Vt., outraced four competitors to win the $6,500 giant slalom title in the $50,000 Lange Cup race Friday.

Kidd won the championship when Austrian Kurt Reher fell near the top of the sunlit course on the first run of the head-to-head two-run championship match.

Reher's skis were carried from the hill and the 25-year-old Austrian was taken to the Vail clinic for examination.

Doctors at the clinic said Reher strained some ligaments in his ankle, but his foot was taped up and he will be able to continue competition over the weekend.

Kidd advanced to the finals of the Lange Cup competition, meeting the winner of Saturday's slalom finals. If Kidd should win the slalom, he would pick up $6,500 there, plus the $5,000 Lange Cup prize, for a total of $11,500 without a runoff.

It was Kidd's second straight giant slalom victory since he turned professional after winning a combined gold medal in the International ski federation championships at Val Gardena, Italy, earlier this year.

Crete's Artie Kubicek, Hilary Howard of Omaha Cathedral and Ron Coleman of David City were the closest challengers to the starting five, with the others on the Honor Roll also getting considerable all-state support from opposing coaches.

Dolphins Underdog To UCLA

College Park, Md. (P) — Upstart Jacksonville University, in the finals of the NCAA basketball championships on its first try in the post-season playoffs, returns to its usual underdog role in the title game against UCLA Saturday.

"Nobody expects us to win, except my kids," coach Joe Williams of the Dolphins said Friday of the impending battle against the tournament-wise Bruins.

UCLA will be seeking its fourth consecutive national title and its sixth in seven years in the nationally-televised NBC 4 p.m. EST, game.

"The championship contest will be preceded by a consolation game involving St. Bonaventure, which lost to Jacksonville 91-83 Thursday night, and New Mexico State, a 93-77 loser to UCLA.

"UCLA's front line is awesome, the team has power, quickness, shoots well and doesn't make too many mistakes," Williams said. "But we love having the chance to play them."

The Dolphins, ranked No. 4 in the nation, were favored to beat third-ranked St. Bonaventure Thursday only because 6 foot-11 All-American Bob Lanier of the Bonnies was out because of a knee operation.

Jacksonville, with a starting lineup which includes Artis Gilmore at 7-2, Pembroke Burrow at 7 feet, and 6-10 Rod McIntyre, didn't do as well as expected while showing only a 48-41 edge in rebounds.

"Everybody says St. Bonaventure would have won if they had Lanier," Williams said. "But how can anybody prove it? We were supposed to win, and we did."

Now, if the Dolphins beat second-ranked UCLA they will complete an unusual Grand Slam by having disposed of all teams ranked above them, Jacksonville knocked off top-ranked Kentucky 106-100 in the Midwest Regionals.

Coaches Lou Henson of New Mexico State and Larry Weise of St. Bonaventure indicated they favored UCLA, leaning heavily on the speed and quickness of the Bruins when compared with Jacksonville's giants.

But coach John Wooden of UCLA, while conceding Jacksonville's tremendous height poses special problems, contended the Dolphins "have much more than those seven-footers."

"I've never seen a great team without great guards," Wooden said. "Guards are the backbone of a club offensively."

Gilmore made 29 points for Jacksonville Thursday, but guards Rex Morgan and Vaughn Wedeking combined for 32 while directing the attack and they kept the Dolphins moving after St. Bonaventure moved into an early 13-3 lead.

UCLA got even more production from guards John Vallely and Henry Bibby, who accounted for 42 points.

Wicks, a 6-8 forward who scored 22 points and had 16 rebounds, was described by Henson as "one of the best forwards I've ever seen — maybe the best."

Weise, also noting the 15 points and 15 rebounds of the 6-6 Rowe, said UCLA "has great forwards and great team play."

"I think Jacksonville will play a much better game against UCLA than they did against us," Weise said. "When they knew Lanier was going to be out, they suffered a natural letdown. The best wants to play against the best."

Henson, who said "speed and quickness is the name of the game," contended it would be hard for the seven footers to cover "anyone as quick as Rowe and Wicks."

Mitchell Joins Trevino For Second Round Lead

... JANUARY DROPS

Jacksonville, Fla. (P) — Talkative Texan Lee Trevino trilled his shots into a blustery, swirling wind for a five-under-par 67 Friday and rushed into a tie for the second round lead with balding Bobby Mitchell in the $100,000 Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

Mitchell, 27, and a pro since he was 15, spiced his round of 38 with an eagle two on the sixth hole. He and Trevino two shared the leadership with 36 hole scores of 137, seven under par on the tight, hilly Hidden Hills Country Club course, a 6,942-yard layout.

Dale Douglass, a lean and lanky man from the Colorado Mountains, had a chance to move into a three-way tie for the top, but left a 10-foot birdie putt three inches short on the final hole and settled for a second consecutive 69 and a 138 total.

Host pro Dan Sikes and Don Bies followed at 140. Sikes had a 69 and Bies a 71.

Those five conquered the gusty winds without major difficulty, but some of the great names of the game had their troubles with the demanding course.

South African Gary Player, for example, had a horrendous 44 on his last nine, finished with a 79 and had a total of 151. That wasn't good enough to make the cut for the last two rounds. It was the first time the plucky little South African had missed since 1968.

And Arnold Palmer bombed out of contention with a fat 77. It got him into the last two rounds but left the muscular millionaire 10 strokes off the pace at 147.

"Just a bad day," Palmer shrugged. "They come along sometimes."

Jack Nicklaus, the other member of golf's big three, managed a 71 and was one of six tied at 141.

The others with him are Jim Wiechers, 63, Dick Ryan, 69, Lionel Hebert, 71, Jack McGowan, 72, and Ron Cerrudo, who went to a 73 after sharing the first round lead with Don January at 68.

January blew to a 75 for 143. Tony Jacklin, the British Open champion, remained in contention with a 72 for 142.

"I think I can hit it as straight as anybody out here," said Trevino, winner of the Tucson Open earlier this year. "So I like a course like this. It's got narrow fairways. It's tight. It rewards you for a good shot and penalizes you for a bad shot."

He didn't have many of those.

Lee counted five birdies and not a bogey on his card, missed only one green and had what he called four more makable birdie putts.

Mitchell, a non-winner since he left his club job in Danville, Va. for a try at the tour in 1966, helped the back nine first and made the turn in even par.

Richie Allen Clubs Home Run Lifting Cards Over Pirates

... MALONEY FINALLY SIGNS WITH REDS

By The Associated Press
Richie Allen, giving St. Louis what it expected, hit his third home run in three days Friday, but former teammate John Briggs matched that in one day with three solo blasts for Philadelphia.

While Allen's two-run blast helped the Cardinals top the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-4 in an exhibition baseball game, Briggs' power play went for naught as the Phillies bowed to the Cincinnati Reds 10-5.

The Reds also scored off the field when pitcher Jim Maloney ended a 20-day holdout by signing for a slight "reduction in salary" from the $60,000 he made last year.

The Boston Red Sox, however, had problems despite a 5-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox at Winter Haven, Fla., when All-Star shortstop Rico Petrocelli was taken to a hospital after suffering another attack of nausea and dizziness. He will undergo intensive tests this weekend.

In other games Detroit edged Minnesota 8-6 in 11 innings, the New York Mets nipped Kansas City 4-3. Houston stopped Atlanta 3-1, the New York Yankees tripped Montreal 4-3. Cleveland blasted the Chicago Cubs 6-1. Oakland bombed Seattle 11-5 and California nudged San Diego 2-1.

Los Angeles met Baltimore in a night game.

Doane Wins 1st NIAC Indoor Meet

Crete (P) — Doane College dedicated its new Fuhrer Physical Education Building in grand style here Friday as it took the championship of the first annual Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic Conference indoor track championships.

The Tigers scored 81 points as they went ahead early and never trailed. Other finishers included Hastings 67, Wesleyan 38, Concordia 21, Midland 14 and Dana 3.

One of the biggest upsets of the meet came when Wesleyan's Jack McVay defeated Ricardo Bailey of Doane in the 800-yard run. McVay was timed in 1:56.8. Only two weeks ago Bailey placed second in the 800-meter run in the Central America Games at Panama City.

Another stellar performance was turned in by Wesleyan freshman Andy Aiken as he lapped the field in the two-mile run, finishing in 9:53.6.

Briggs slammed his homers in succession, but the Reds jumped on Jim Bunning for five runs in the first inning with Tony Perez hitting a homer, and the Phillies never caught up.

Gary Peters became the first Boston pitcher to go six innings as he ran his shutout string to 15 innings in his first teammates. He allowed four singles.

Bill Freehan tripled in the leading run in the 11th inning and scored on an error as Detroit handed the Twins their 12th loss in 13 games under new manager Bill Rigney.

Ed Kranepool's run-scoring double in the eighth inning broke a tie after Tom Seaver had pitched six innings of one run ball in the Mets' victory.

Houston got the first earned run of the spring off Jim Nash and added two unearned runs to beat Atlanta, and the Yankees won when Bobby Murcer doubled and eventually scored on Thurmon Munson's sacrifice fly in the sixth inning.

Cleveland's Barry Moore, rookie Phil Hemigan and Dick Ellsworth halted the Cubs on six hits, one of them Ernie Banks' homer pinch-hitter Jim Spencer singled in California's winning run in the last of the ninth, and Don Mincher and Dick Green each drove in three runs in a 13-hit attack as Oakland pummeled the Pilots.

—DUROCHER IS CONFIDENT—

Cubs Plan To Take Pennant This Year

Scottsdale, Ariz. (P) — Better balance and Johnny Calison will help the Chicago Cubs do this year what they failed spectacularly to do in 1969, says manager Leo Durocher — win the National League's East Division pennant.

Putting aside all thoughts of the Cubs' late-season fade in favor of the New York Mets, the sometimes bad-tempered Durocher discussed his club's chances candidly and pleasantly at Chicago's spring-training site here.

"I figure the club is better balanced than last year," Durocher said. "The team to beat? Who won the pennant? Who won the World Series? That's the team we've got to beat."

The acquisition of Calison from the Philadelphia Phillies during the winter solved the Cub's chronic right-field problem and Billy Williams is set in left, but centerfield remains a question.

Strategic Weapons Freeze Is Urged

•The New York Times

Washington — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved Friday a resolution calling upon the United States and the Soviet Union to stop their nuclear arms race by entering into a freeze on the further deployment of strategic weapons.

The "sense-of-the-Senate" resolution is designed to influence the administration's position as it prepares for resumption next month of the strategic arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union.

With the resolution, if adopted as expected, the Senate in effect would be telling the President that he could count upon Senate support for any agreement or treaty with the Soviet Union imposing a freeze on the number of strategic weapons possessed by each side.

The "freeze" approach to a strategic arms limitation agreement was one favored by the Johnson administration. Officials in the Nixon administration have expressed some reservations on this numerical freeze approach, but in general the administration is seeking some way to impose a limit on the nuclear weapons on each side.

Specifically, the resolution calls upon the President to post to the Soviet Union "an immediate suspension by the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republic of the further deployment of all offensive and defensive nuclear strategic weapons systems, subject to national verification or such other measures of observation and inspection as may be appropriate."

As contemplated by the drafters of the resolution, such a deployment freeze initially could provide a pause in the strategic arms race while both sides attempt to work out a strategic arms limitation agreement.

Under the freeze, for example, the United States would stop deploying offensive missiles armed with multiple warheads and its Safeguard antiballistic missile system, and the Soviet Union would halt deployment of its ABM system around Moscow and its large SS9 intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Ultimately, however, this freeze concept could provide the framework for an agreement with the Soviet Union.

Senate Is Still Favoring Carswell

Washington (AP) — Two uncommitted senators took a position on G. Harrold Carswell Friday but the balance of power solidly favoring the Supreme Court nominee remained unchanged.

Republican Jack Miller of Iowa said he would vote for confirmation because a "distinguished Iowan who knows Judge Carswell very well," recommends him.

Democrat Vance Hartke of Indiana said he would vote against confirmation because he said Carswell "is not the kind of man, not the kind of judge, we need for the highest court in the land" and "it is unabashed political appointment."

The declarations raised the number of publicly committed senators to 39 for and 24 against confirmation with enough leaners to give President Nixon's nominee a clear majority now, but the showdown apparently is still more than two weeks off.

The Hartke-Miller declarations capped the first full week of debate. Miller's was the last major speech scheduled by backers of the 50-year-old Tallahassee, Fla. jurist.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., led the floor attack on the nomination Friday.

Kennedy said that Carswell's 12 years on the bench — 11 as a U.S. district judge in Florida and one as a member of the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals — "have provided no evidence whatsoever that he deserves to be placed in the first rank of American lawyers."

"Despite his long service he has shown no ability to contribute to the development of the law," said Kennedy.

He added that Carswell had violated judicial ethics by being hostile to civil rights lawyers and he said the argument that the Senate is obligated to confirm Carswell after rejecting Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. was almost laughable.

Lincoln Frontier Boardings Down

Frontier Airlines has reported an 11% increase in Nebraska passengers for the month of February.

Lincoln was the only one of the twelve communities which the airline serves that reported a drop in passenger boardings. The 4,349 figure is down 5% from a comparable period in 1969. Kearney reported the largest gain—164—up 54%.

Laryngitis Strikes

Washington (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers was confined to his home with what was described as a "slight touch of laryngitis." A spokesman disclosed this when he was asked why the secretary had cancelled an appointment to testify before the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Civil Rights Director Slain

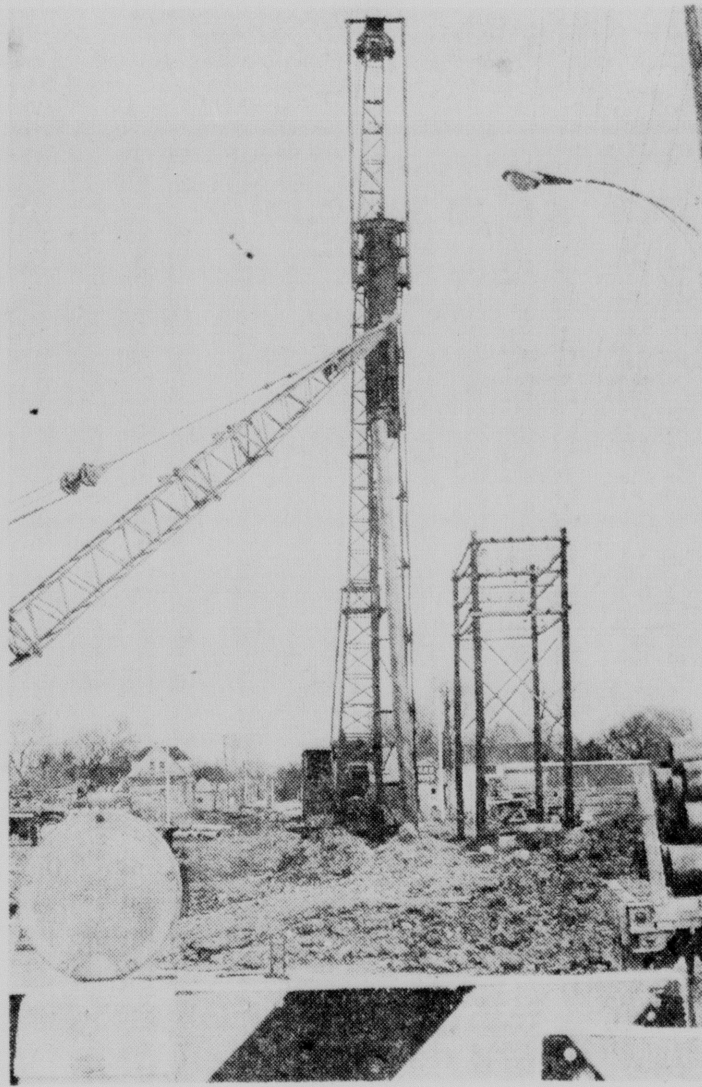

Detroit (AP) — The executive director of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission was found shot to death Friday night next to his car at a downtown Detroit garage.

The victim, Burton I. Gordin, 50, was shot at least once in the chest, said Walter R. Green, chief executive assistant to Detroit Mayor Roman Gribbs. Gordin, who is white, was en route home at the time.

"He was a fine man who was engaged in the kind of work that was trying to improve our society," said Green, who had previously been Gordin's deputy on the commission.

Brief Incidents Erupt In North Omaha Area

Omaha (AP) — Police were called to a north Omaha intersection Friday afternoon because of reports that passing motorists were being hit with objects.

Several youths, both black and white, had gathered at the intersection after North High School let out, but dispersed when police arrived.

In another incident, police said two fire bombs were thrown from a school bus carrying junior and senior high youths home Friday afternoon.

One thrown at a downtown drug store did not ignite. A second one thrown from the same bus about two blocks away struck a car and did some damage, police said.

The incidents followed a fight at North High Friday morning, apparently precipitated by an egg throwing incident. The fight erupted in halls near the office of Principal Harold Reeves.

Reeves said 12 or 13 youths, both white and Negro, were suspended until he can talk with their parents. He said he didn't think many more were involved in the fighting, but others including some students said it appeared as many as 50 or 60 might have been involved in the brief shoving and hitting incident.

For the first time within memory reporters were barred from entering the school. This implements for the first time a policy worked out last January as a guide for dealing with school disturbances.

Communications with news media may be made "only through the building administrator in charge."

Reeves said the fighting was broken up in about five minutes and classes were held. A number of parents removed their children from school, and some police cars remained at the scene throughout the morning.

Reeves said none of the students involved was seriously enough injured to require hospitalization, and there were no reports of weapons. Among those admitted to the school after doors were locked was Ernest Chambers, civil rights activist, who said he came originally to take a younger sister home, but he said he had a conference with Reeves, and tried to explain that the incident "was more than a superficial thing."

He said the "all-white jury" acquittal of former policeman James Loder, in the death of a Negro girl has troubled the black community.

Sen. Terry Carpenter Supports Batchelder

Omaha (AP) — State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff announced Friday he will support fellow Sen. Clifton Batchelder's challenge of Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Carpenter told a news conference "Batchelder has the belly to do exactly what he says he will do" and Tiemann is "a fine man personally but a lousy governor."

Carpenter said he is convinced Batchelder, an Omaha businessman, would act strongly to control lawlessness.

"He's 90 degrees right of Barry Goldwater," he said of Batchelder. "He'll give you law and order."

"You can't sit and watch people burn, loot and steal and not give the police orders to stop it. What do they have to do, burn down the Omaha National Bank before people react?"

Tiemann Criticized

Carpenter criticized Tiemann for not using his authority under the state civil disobedience law to control a disorder that followed the Class A basketball tournament in Omaha last week.

"The governor has the supreme power to enforce all laws," said the Scottsbluff legislator. "Where was the governor, the mayor and the county attorney? Cowardice is a major factor in failure to maintain law and order. Those holding public office are always thinking about getting re-elected."

Carpenter said he will do everything within his power to permanently remove the state tournament from Omaha.

"because Omaha has demonstrated it can't maintain law and order and we're not going to subject our kids to that kind of treatment."

Investigation Asked Richard Nisley of Omaha, president of the Nebraska AFL-CIO, was present and asked Carpenter to investigate the financing and advertising procedures of the Metropolitan Utilities District, Omaha's gas and water utility.

Nisley said MUD claims to have a "so-called employee group which is said to represent workers," but has not filed reports under provisions of the labor-management act.

Carpenter said MUD should call for a vote of its employees to determine union representation.

Barnard Says His Next Aim Is Brain Transplant

Paris (UPI) — Dr. Christiaan Barnard, the South African pioneer of heart transplant surgery, was quoted Friday as saying he is now aiming at brain transplants.

"The heart transplant was once judged to be impossible. Why not tomorrow the brain?" he told the Daily Parisien. "At Cape Town, what I'm aiming at is the brain transplant."

Barnard, 47, was in Paris to launch a book on his life, "One Life." He was accompanied by his 19-year-old blonde wife, Barbara, whom he married recently in Johannesburg.

Educational Technology Said Able To 'Humanize' Schools

Extensive use of technology in education will result in "humanizing the educational program," Hastings school Supt. Dr. Thomas Keating declared here Friday.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Nebraska Educational Media Association, Keating explained that use technology will speed up the dissemination of information and feedback from the student so that there will be more time for "people to people confrontations."

"There will be more opportunities for communication between students and time for them to understand each other," he said.

Keating told the 150 members of the media association and School Section of the Nebraska Library Association, meeting jointly, that the national educational television program "Sesame Street" has resulted in a "revolution in the reading potential of millions of children."

Children who regularly watch the TV program will be two or three years ahead of students who do not watch the show, he said. "Gaps in learning skills will be wider than ever before."

Media, Keating said, should be made "so dynamic" and used in and out of the classroom to accelerate the learning of all children.

Other sessions Friday featured presentations on different ways to use media in education. Saturday sessions will conclude with an announcement of new officers of the association.

Exon Is Critical Of Hardin's Plan For Feed Grains

Democratic gubernatorial candidate J. J. Exon of Lincoln said Friday "there isn't a single worker in American who would sit still for the proposed 10% cut in income and a three-year guarantee of no raise in pay as is being suggested by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin for a farm program."

Exon said he was "shocked" to learn that Hardin was suggesting a 10% cut in support prices and a reduced level of income for farmers for three years at a time when the entire economy is fueled with inflation.

Exon said that Gov. Norbert Tiemann has been satisfied to "sit idly by and do nothing" as the Nixon administration continues to back down on campaign commitments made to farmers to raise farm income.

"This has happened on the advance feed grain payments and now it is happening on a proposal for new farm legislation, and we are hearing no response from Governor Tiemann," said Exon.

Osceola Man, 23, Hurt In Mishap, OK In Hospital

A 23-year-old Osceola man was in "good" condition and being held for observation at Bryan Hospital Tuesday following a one-car accident on 27th between Sumner and Garfield.

Arlette D. Johnson apparently fell asleep while traveling northbound on 27th early in the morning, and his car left the road, smashing into a power pole, according to police reports. He suffered a cut lip and hand.

Lincoln Youth Is Charged With Assault

An 18-year-old Lincoln youth was charged with assault and battery in Lancaster County Court Friday in connection with an attack on two police officers Thursday night.

The youth pleaded innocent and trial was scheduled for April 22. Judge Ralph Slocum set bond at $100.

Officers William Baskins and Jerry Wismer reported they were questioning two men at the Malone Center, 2030 T, regarding a report of a fight when the youth interferred and began swinging his arms, striking the officers in the chest.

The two men left when the youth appeared, the policemen reported.

The officers reported that they attempted to restrain the youth, but several other youths attacked them from behind. Wismer said he was hit on the head with a hard object and Baskins was struck with a metal chair.

The officers said that two or three older men began pulling the youths off the officers. Other policemen arrived at the same time.

The youth wasn't arrested until Friday when he came to police headquarters to talk about the incident.

No other arrests were made.

Atlanta Mayor Fires 1,400 City Workers

Atlanta, Ga. (AP) — Backing up an earlier ultimatum, Mayor Sam Massell fired 1,400 city employees Friday for continuing a four-day strike.

Letters of dismissal went to the striking workers, who included sanitation men, and water, sewer, park and street department employees, after negotiations failed between the city of Atlanta and union officials.

"As far as we are concerned the strike is over," said a spokesman for the mayor. "As for people who refused to go to work, they have been terminated."

Expansion Announced

Cleveland (UPI) — The Black Economic Union, founded here by former Cleveland Brown Fullback Jim Brown, announced it had expanded its anti-poverty program to Washington, D.C., Kansas City, Mo., Oakland, and Los Angeles.

Stock Prices Slip In Soaring

New York (AP) — The stock market moved lackadaisically downward Friday.

Trading volume, which was depressed for two weeks, was further dampened by the postal worker strike that spread during the session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial closed off 1.32 at 763.66, with declining issues outnumbering advances one 864 to 411.

Volume on the Big Board declined to 7.92 million shares from 8.93 million shares Thursday. Friday's volume was the lowest since Dec. 26, when 6.75 million shares were traded.

The postal strike contributed to the reduced volume because it impeded the transfer of stock certificates, order confirmations and money payments.

Of the 1,566 shares traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 127 touched new lows for 1970.

Beef cows ranged as high as 24.50.

State Farm Income Figures Among Highest In Nation

Based on preliminary estimates, percentage increases during 1969 in gross income per farm, net income per farm and cash marketings in Nebraska were among the highest in the nation, according to an article by Mrs. Dorothy Switzer in the March issue of Business in Nebraska.

During 1969 Nebraska farmers grossed approximately $30,000 per farm, the highest figure in the seven-state west north central region.

Although the per-farm figure represents a 15% increase over 1968, the rise in production costs, Mrs. Switzer pointed out, offset much of the increase.

Nationally the gross income per farm was up 6% over 1968, representing the largest year-to-year rise since 1951, she said.

In spite of spiralling costs, Nebraska farmers realized over $9,000 per farm, an increase of nearly 30% over 1968's average per farm income of $7,000. Nationally, farmers grossed $5,400 per farm, up 11.6% over 1968.

Mrs. Switzer indicated, however, the Nebraska percentage increase figures for 1969 are highly misleading. Because the state's percentage increase in 1968 was essentially zero, the 30% gain is representative of a two-year, rather than a one-year rise. On this basis, Nebraska's percentage increase was only slightly above the regional average in both, Mrs. Switzer said.

In cash receipts from farm marketings in 1969, Nebraska retained its sixth-place stand among the 50 states, accounting for 4.1% of the national total.

The near $2 billion cash receipts indicated a substantial 12% rise over 1968, she added. These receipts do not include direct payments from the federal government, which amounted to $3.8 billion nationally, up 9.8%.

Retired Veterans Hospital Social Service Chief Cited

Full Review Of Grants Slated By State Crime Commission

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice Friday decided on a crucial 8-7 vote that all actions of its five-member Grant Review Committee will be submitted to the full commission for review and final determination.

In its first major policy decision in months, the commission reversed its earlier position that virtually delegated to a committee the disbursement of federal aid funds to law enforcement agencies and regions over the state.

The deciding vote was cast by Boys Town Mapor Julius Brinkley after other commission members present split 7-7 on the policy change.

Propriety Questioned

The vote came after several commission members questioned the propriety, if not legality, of delegating disbursement of federal funds to a five-member committee with no specific review procedure by the full commission.

State Planning Director Douglas Bereuter, who raised the issue, said his office "has less opportunity to review federal grant applications by the crime commission, under state and federal regulations, than another state agency."

The policy change discussion was prompted by the Grant Review Committee's approval of $63,310 in federal money to help fund a $104,770 helicopter surveillance and training project of the Lincoln Police Department.

Violation Seen

The committee said the project was approved as an "experimental, innovative program," but several commission members suggested the project violated commission guidelines that no "daily-use equipment" application be funded.

Under the proposed Lincoln project, some 750 helicopter hours would be flown in law enforcement work and the training of two police officers as pilots.

Noting that other police departments use helicopters in law enforcement and traffic work, Bereuter questioned whether the proposed project was "innovative."

The commission deferred action on the Lincoln application until its April meeting.

Policy Review Set

In other action, the commission unanimously agreed to consider next month possible major policy changes in the funding of law enforcement projects.

Presently, the commission has excluded salaries, automobiles and other daily-use equipment and construction projects as eligible for federal aid funds.

A delegation from a nine-county planning region told the commission that money for officer salaries and equipment is most needed in the rural areas and smaller towns.

Help Said Needed

Commission members agreed that law enforcement help for the smaller communities is needed, but thought "regionalization of law enforcement is needed for feasible financial support."

The Grant Review Committee reported its approval of 47 projects, excluding Lincoln's helicopter proposal, totaling $712,192. Of this amount, $469,153 would be funded with federal money with the balance from local funds.

The larger projects with the federal share shown in parenthesis:

—Omaha police, communications equipment, $484,772 ($290,863).

—Grand Island police, communications equipment, $45,386 ($27,231).

—State Patrol, communications, $13,850 ($13,850).

—Norfolk Junior College, law enforcement training course, $43,250 ($25,950).

—Scotts Bluff County sheriff, communications, $6,125 ($3,675).

Bank Contests State Agency Charter Rule

The Southroads Bank of Bellevue Friday asked Lancaster District Court to remand to the State Banking Department its request for a charter at the Southroads Shopping Center near Omaha or to reverse the department's decision to deny the application.

According to the petition, the bank applied for a charter at the shopping center location last Sept. 18, a public hearing was held Dec. 10 and 11, 1969, and the application was denied Feb. 24.

The bank alleges that the merchants, employees of the shopping center and persons living in the area would be served and benefitted by the bank and that shoppers doing business at the center could also do their banking at the same location.

It contends that the bank in that location would serve the public advantage, convenience and necessity.

In the order handed down by the State Banking Department denying the application, Banking Director Edwin A. Langley said, "The public necessity, convenience and advantage will not be promoted by permitting such corporation to engage in business as a bank."

Southroads Bank names as defendants First National Bank of Bellevue, Packers National Bank of Omaha and Stockyards National Bank of Omaha, all of which opposed its application for a charter.

Other defendants named in the action are the Department of Banking, State of Nebraska, governor and attorney general of Nebraska.

"C" MEANS HE CAN DO IT!

Nothing gives a boy more inner strength and pride than in knowing he is doing a worthwhile thing well. His newspaperboy business brings that sort of self-satisfaction and awareness.

There are too few opportunities in our society today for a boy to prove himself. Until he is given a chance to do something constructive on his own, no one can anticipate how he will react. It is heart-warming to see a boy who appears to be shy and unsure of himself suddenly rise to the challenge when he places a newspaper bag over his shoulder.

Once he discovers that he CAN DO IT, he is on the way to success—now—and in later life.

The interest and encouragement of his parents are as important to him as the plaudits of his customers. Let him know, from time to time, how you feel about his efforts.

Legality Of Power District Merger Is Under Question

A suggestion surfaced Friday that the recent merger of two major public power districts into the new Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) may have been unconstitutional.

The State Railway Commission disclosed it is looking into the question.

Giving rise to the suspicion of unconstitutionality is the provision (Article 10, Section 3) in the state constitution which reads: "No public utility corporation or common carrier shall consolidate its stock, property, franchise or earnings in whole or in part with any other public utility corporation or common carrier owning a parallel or competing property without permission of the Railway Commission..."

Hearing Called

The Railway Commission has called for "an informal, fact finding hearing" on the matter April 14.

Directed to appear at the hearing are officials of the old Consumers Public Power

District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District — the two districts which merged to form NPPD.

Jack Finigan, Railway Commission legal counsel, emphasized that the commission has reached no conclusions.

He noted that Consumers and Platte districts received authorization for the merger from the State Water Resources Department, but never made application to the Railway Commission.

Others Besides?

Some observers said that if Railway Commission authorization was needed in the NPPD case, then there have been other unconstitutional power district mergers also.

Richard Wilson of Lincoln, legal counsel for NPPD, said the section of constitution cited does not apply to public power districts.

"It's not set up for public power districts that are public subdivisions," he said.

Nearly 400 Men From Arab States Get U.S. Training

Washington (AP) — Almost 400 military personnel from what the Nixon administration terms "moderate" Arab states are currently being trained in the United States, Pentagon sources report.

The training, carried out under military grants and sales programs, has been going on for several years despite growing tensions in the Middle East.

The object, officials say, is to try to offset the Soviet Union's influence in the area.

Bryan Hospital To Begin Supply Efficiency Study

Bryan Memorial Hospital will begin a study Monday designed to improve the delivery system for handling supplies and equipment within the hospital.

The study, conducted by Richard Youngs and Robert Kelley with the firm of Clark and Enersen, Olsson, Burroughs and Thomsen, includes personnel, activities, facilities and equipment needed to efficiently order, receive, store, process and use supplies and equipment.

The study will be made in the areas of Central Service, Pharmacy, Linen Service and Food Service, with a target date for completion of August 1, 1970.

$123,543 Suit Filed Against 3 In Collision

A $123,543 damage suit was filed Friday in Lancaster District Court by Lyle B. Schneider against Frank L. Kenneth C. and Mary A. Campbell in connection with a July 12, 1968, collision southeast of Havelock.

Schneider alleges that he was attempting to adjust the carburetor on his stalled car when he and his vehicle were struck by a car driven by Frank Campbell and owned by Kenneth C. and Mary A. Campbell.

The plaintiff contends that the lights of his vehicle were on at all-times while it was stalled on the public road three-tenths of a mile south of 84th and Havelock, but that the defendant Frank Campbell negligently "drove into the plaintiff and car."

He alleges that the defendant was negligent in that he failed to have his vehicle under proper control, did not maintain proper lookout, was driving at a speed too fast for conditions and that the vehicle had faulty brakes and that he was negligent in failing to avoid the collision.

As a result of the accident, Schneider contends that his car was totally demolished and that he suffered multiple injuries including two broken legs, a pelvis injury, injury to the nervous system and multiple bruises, scrapes and cuts.

Old Rail Tracts Are To Be Sold Only If Land Cut

The State Game Commission spent most of the time at its monthly meeting Friday discussing the advisability of selling tracts of abandoned Rock Island Railroad right-of-way the commission has acquired in southeast Nebraska.

On a 4-2 vote, the commission finally decided to offer for sale only those tracts which bisect a landowner's property, and only when requests to sell are received. Any land sold must be auctioned to the highest bidder.

A 1969 legislative act, LB606, authorized selling of the land.

The abandoned railroad right-of-way runs about 56 miles, southeastward from Beatrice through Gage and Pawnee Counties and down to the Kansas line.

The Commission bought it in 1968 for $35,000.

The motion to sell only the tracts which cut up a landowner's property was made by Bruce Cowgill of Silver Creek and seconded by Jim Columbo of Omaha.

In other action, commissioners approved the hiring of a new managing editor for the Nebraskaland magazine. He is Irvin Kroeker, former newspaper man in Regina, Saskatchewan.

Parents OK, Teachers Nix Report Cards

Most elementary teachers in the Lincoln Public Schools are "unhappy with the format of the present grade reports," while parents of elementary children are generally "pleased with the present cards," it was reported Friday.

The opinions of all elementary teachers and some 200 parents surveyed by the school district about the grade reporting system were revealed in the March issue of Education Insights, published by the schools.

The summary report on the survey also indicated:

—53% of all teachers and 69% of parents surveyed do not want report cards eliminated in favor of conferences.

—83% of teachers and 94% of parents do not favor elimination of conferences.

—71% of teachers favored a restudy of reporting in the elementary school and revision of the philosophy statement.

69% of teachers favored in-service sessions aimed at better understanding of techniques of consulting with parents and the reporting system.

Deputy Welfare Director Resigns

Deputy State Welfare Director Leroy Rogers has resigned effective April 1 to go into private law practice, State Welfare Director Harold Strode confirmed Friday.

Rogers, 35, was legal consultant to the Douglas County Welfare Administration for eight years before joining the state department last October.

He was assistant administrator before being named deputy director recently at a $15,000 annual salary, according to Strode.

Strode said he will name a replacement for Rogers later.
